I have the honor to acknowledge the reception of your dispatch No 10 of the 10th ^{of ult} ~~instant~~ recalling my attention to your dispatch No 7 of the 27th March last in relation to Charges preferred against the Interpreter of this Consulate.

In reply I have the honor ^{to say} that in my dispatch No 134 of April 5th. I responded to the enquiries made in said dispatch No 7.

I also state that a report of the investigation of the matter referred to would have been made long since, had I supposed you expected or even desired it.

In conversing with Mr. Tallat on the subject, he expressed it at his opinion that you did not desire or expect it ^{to} be referred to you.

"Interpreter's Office"

The sign was purchased and paid for by the Government while Mr. Conwell was in charge of the Consulate and has been in use since.

The "private slips" were put up at my request and expense for the convenience of myself and family and are the only ones into the Canal in front of the Consulate.

As to the "boats". The Interpreter owns an interest to the amount of One hundred dollars in a small steam Launch and employs a cook who owns a sampans to carry him to and from Honan where he resides with his uncle, O' Hong.

O' Kerr you will see, says the Interpreter confessed in my presence that he was a frequenter of "Boatmen's Boats" - such confession was in these words and under the following circumstances. I requested O' Kerr to call at the Consulate that I might converse with him on this subject.

while

while here I enquired whether he would like to see the Interpreter, that the Interpreter had expressed a desire to see him. That he might ascertain the names of the parties who had advised him W. Kern, that he the Interpreter, was in anywise connected or interested in the "Flower Boats".

During the conversation W. Kern asked the Interpreter "Do you not frequent the flower or 'Brothel Boats'? The Interpreter replied "I have visited ^{them} I visited them with the American Military Officers recently here and also two gentlemen from St. Louis and with other American sightseers".

W. Kern also charges the Interpreter with having aided the "brothel boats" to return.

The boats referred to are and have been for months near the premises is formally testified by W. Kern.

Previous to the issuance of a proclamation by the Viceroy.

Investigation

Magistrate at the request of Mr. Talbot while in charge of this Consulate. These boats were anchored directly in front of the residences of Rev. Peckham & Henry and I know and had been for years

Pursuant to the provisions of said proclamation, these boats moved from this location and have not been in front of said premises since, and did not of course need the assistance of the Interpreter or others to aid them in remaining within the limits prescribed in the French proclamation.

Since the departure of Mr. Kern for the United States there has been no trouble concerning the Interpreter nor the "Barthel Boats". Every thing being in a quiet, pleasant and satisfactory base.

The Interpreter attends to his duties as well as I could desire.

Regretting to have troubled you with lengthy a communication.

Sir

I have received your dispatch no 175 in regard to the charge against the Interpreter Mr. C. Ching

The letters addressed to you by the missionaries have not put you in possession of facts that the Interpreter has been guilty of improper conduct, matters are stated by them, however which if they had been pursued by you might have shown light in his character. It is entirely desirable that you should look into these in a thorough way.

1st In regard to the official sign put up near the door of the Interpreter's office. Are you entirely sure that you have received a correct interpretation of the Chinese characters upon it. Shades of meaning meaning attack to the Chinese Characters which are not always betrayed in the translations made. It is not desirable that the interpreter should appear as having independent authority. You will send to me therefore, a transcript of the signor placard so that I may determine whether it is a suitable one.

2nd I judge from the letter the letters of Mr. Kim and Mr. Henry, that the present anchorage of the "British boat" is unpleasantly near their residence.
 I would like you to ask from them such detailed statements as will enable me to judge more perfectly whether there is any ground to accusthe interpreter of having been connected with them. I do not understand the matter from what you and they have written.

3rd I would like you to ask Mr.
 Thompson for a full statement in regard to the case of the fuger, and of his reasons for believing that you to 4th Please send me a report upon the charge that the Interpreter exacted money from a Chinese named Tu Tan Lii who went to the Consulate with a claim against an American and was forced out of some $200 by Yu C. Ching.

 It will not be difficult for you probably to visit the shop of the man named with the Rev Mr. Proctor or some other person upon whose interpretation you can rely and to get at the facts at once.
 5th In regard to the "brothel houses not far from the Consulate" Mr. Thomas now speaks of letters which as he believes were sent by Yu C. Ching to a Chinese official, probably the Sam-tai in order to procure the removal of an injunction upon these houses. Please ask Mr. Thomas for any necessary particulars and then personally with an Interpreter not Yu C. Ching wait upon the official and ask for the letters.
 6th What are the characters which are written

written on the banner which the Interpreter carries as stated by Mr. Thomas.

7th For what reason did O'Kaffer withdraw his letter. Was he satisfied that he had misjudged the Interpreter. If so why did he not so state.

You will understand my anxiety that you make a searching examination of all matters mentioned and of any others which may throw light upon the Interpreter's conduct in office. As a new officer at Canton and in China you are probably not perfectly aware of the chicanery and under hand work which goes on among the Chinese at your port, as the missionaries generally have united in the representation made to me, as I know them personally and have great respect for their intelligence and fairness, as they have excellent means of information, and are profoundly distrustful of the Interpreter. I am not disposed to dismiss their complaint in a light way.

Sir

The reception of your dispatch No date before, 15th August I have the honor to acknowledge,

I am convinced that in anticipating you would arrive at a conclusion similar to my own regarding the charges against the Interpreter from the communications transmitted with my dispatch No 175 without a more detailed statement of my action, I allowed myself to presume too much upon your estimate of my thoroughness of investigation as an official

Knowing that I fully understood the desirability of a thorough examination of the matter and believing my investigation was as searching

as the circumstances of the case demand and I must respectfully beg to dissent from your opinion that the matters taken by the missionaries were not pursued by me in a thorough manner.

Regarding the 'Chicannery and under handwork' you mention as going on among the Chinese at this Port I am satisfied that I am not as fully aware of the extent of such work as officials who have had greater experience in China and Chinese affairs.

As to the Missionaries I desire to say that from one year's constant intercourse, I have found them, with very few exceptions, persons for whose intelligence, honesty and fairness I have as high regard, as can I am sure, be entertained by your Excellency and I do not conceive there is an official in China who would give greater weight or more prompt or thorough attention to their complaints than myself.

I fully agree with you that but it is not desirable for an Interpreter to appear as having independent authority.

He should not in my opinion appear as having any authority other than to perform such acts as he may be directed by his Superiors.

Pursuant to your request for further information on certain points I have the honor to report as follows: 1st Interpreter's official Sign - I am entirely sure that I received correct interpretation of the Chinese characters used; the interpretation having been made at my request, by Drs Staffer, Kerr, and Preston and is as follows: "This is the way to the Interpreter's office". The following is a true and correct transcript of the English and Chinese Characters; which I send you pursuant to your direction that you may determine whether they are suitable: "繙譯官署由此路進 U. S. Interpreter's office".
The sign hangs on the south side of.

of the Consular building, near the post entrance. The entrance to the Inspector's Office is at the N.E. corner of the building.

2nd Brothel Boats

By referring to my dispatch 12:175 you will observe O'Kear is no longer a resident of Canton having removed to the United States.

The following is the statement of *Rev B. C. Henry regarding his knowledge of the Interpreter's connection with the Brothel Boats.

"When I came to Canton December
" 1873 the boats in question occupied " the whole space between our houses " and Russell & Co's extending far " into the river. A number of them " were anchored directly in front of " our houses. Efforts to have them " removed failed unavailingly until " about July 1875 when at our request, " our Consul Mr. Talbot, had the bad " boats removed from our immediate " front. Soon after this a mob of " Chinese

"Chinese drove away the bad boats as far "up as the canal just below Russell's Co.
 "Within a few days of this a proclamation "was issued by the Nam-Poi Magistrate "in answer to a petition sent in by us "sometime before - forbidding these boats "to anchor in front of the island known "as Yau T'ai Tai Kai - This is the street "on which we live and its river front "extends fully sixty steps above the "limit of our premises. The boats "soon began to return above and we "endeavored to prevent their coming back "knowing if they were permitted to anchor "opposite the streets adjoining ours, "they would soon be in front of our "streets again which prove to be the case.
 "Mr. W. K. Kern, Preston, and Henry "signed a petition in which every shop in "the street Yau T'ai Tai Kai on which "we live united, to the Chinese Authorities "beseeching them as the boats were away "not to permit them to return. The "petition was presented to the Council,
 "what became of it I do not know.

" It was about this time I was told by " O'Kien that the Interpreter of the Consulate " was asking the boat to come back. Of this " I have no direct personal knowledge.
 " The most direct knowledge I have is the " case of the old woman who told O'Kien, " while I was in a boat near by that U " Din Phung the Interpreter had given her " permission to anchor there.
 " Then at O'Kien's request the Interpreter " accompanied him to the boats. I " went with them, after going over " nearly all the boats the people were " called together and the Interpreter, " repeating O'Kien's words, told them " that the French Consulate having issued a " proclamation for bidding them to " anchor there they must obey it and " remove and they must not rely " for help on any one connected with " the American Consulate. More " was said which I do not remember " exactly. I think the Interpreter only " repeated what O'Kien told him to " say, using however more forcible language.

"language than Dr. Kerr himself would have used"

I enclose herewith the paper referred to by Mr. Henry as the petition signed by every shop in the street known as "Yuen Tsoi Tai Kai". I was advised by Messrs. Kerr & Preston that it was not a petition but an expression of feeling regarding the war effects produced by the Flower Boute, that it was signed some months before, as a preparatory move to the signing of the petition presented to the Parnhai and which he based the issuance of the Proclamation referred to - It was presented to me for the purpose of showing that the Chinese shop-keepers in the street named concurred in the views expressed by Dr. Kerr and others.

The following is a copy of a letter signed by Messrs. Kerr, Preston, Henry and Gammart and handed me with the paper above alluded to.

H. P. Lincoln Esq.

U. S. Consul

Sir

I beg to inform you that the Kwong neighborhood have assembled for the purpose of again driving away the brotch boats which have returned in great numbers to the landing Kuei fan in full view from my house. I beg leave also to inform you that these boats have been aided in returning to this place for the pursuit of their illegal and noxious business by persons connected with the Yamen of the Resident Magistrate, whom I have seen there several times.

I beg leave also to state that this the third occasion within a few months in which these brotch boats have been the cause of endangering the peace and safety of our families.

I beg leave therefore to request most earnestly, that you will take such steps as will secure us and our families from the annoyance and danger to which we have been exposed and which must continue so long as these brotch boats are permitted to remain.

Immediately upon receipt of the above I visited the locality to satisfy myself whether I had sufficient ground upon which to make demand for the removal of these boats. I found them anchored fully thirty (30) yards above the best ^{was} limit of the Missionaries premises. I ^{at first} ~~did~~ it judicious to request their removal, until I had conferred with Your Excellency. In accordance with your suggestion when I saw you in Hong Kong on the fifteenth of February I refrained from making an official or formal demand but on several different occasions in conversing with the Vicary I mentioned the fact that the flower boats were anchored unpleasantly near the residences of Americans. That, complaints had been made of their presence. I expressed the wish that the Canton's Proclamation should be strictly complied with that their anchorage would then be 50 yards from the missionaries' residences a sufficient distance to render complaints in future improbable. Chinese officials being delatory in taking official action, the Canton's Proclamation has not been strictly enforced until during last month.

I am advised by May's Preston and Henry that the prison anchorage is at sufficient distance to prevent disturbance or annoyance to them.

3rd I enclose Mr. Thomas's statement (original) regarding the case of the "forger" and Mr. T's reasons for believing that the Interpreter received a bribe. Your personal acquaintance with the party making the statement.

"The Toot Toot"

Before replying to my dispatch making inquiries concerning the ~~case of the~~ case of the "foetus" and that of Tu Toot Toot, Mr. Thomson called at the consulate, and stated that Tu Toot Toot was at the time referred to, engaged in manufacturing ginger preserves near his Thomson's residence. Did not know the name of the American against whom Tu Toot Toot held a claim, was informed by one Chau Hing Hing formerly Mr. Thomson's teacher, that Tu Toot Toot attempted to present such claim and was felled by the British police as charged.

In answer to an inquiry as to the character of Chau Hing Hing Mr. Thomson said he was a worthless fellow.

Upon receipt of Mr. Thomson's written statement of September 6th observing he made no reference to the case Tu Toot Toot I sent him a second dispatch. The answer to which I herewith inclose.

Having summoned Fu Tsai Tui he appeared at the Consulate Rev B made as follows.

I have the honor to hand to you herewith a copy of a Chinese 1/48 placard which, I am informed was extensively posted about the street of Canton in July last and which you will see from the translation, denounces your interpreter in severe terms

I am, as you are doubtless aware, entirely familiar with the correspondence between yourself and Minister Quesard in regard to certain charges made against the Interpreter to your Consulate, while exceedingly unwilling to embarrass you, or to give needless annoyance by a review of the subject, I do not feel at liberty to allow this placard posted

presented in so conspicuous a manner, and contain so long a list of the gra-vest charges, to pass entirely unnoticed.

Will you be so good as to give me any information you may have or be able to obtain as to the authors of this pamphlet, and also your opinion as to whether there is any foundation for any of the accusations which it contains.

Peking

Sir

I have ^{had} the honor to receive your dispatch No 48 and enclosure relative to placard posted containing charges against the Interpreter Yu K. Cheung of this Consulate.

For what you say about embarrassing or giving me needless annoyance you have my best thanks.

I will premise my reply to your dispatch by saying that I am fully satisfied there is not one word of truth in the whole list of charges made, and from reason to wit 1st The placard was posted in July last just at the close of the negotiations with the Chinese Authorities here relative to the Ollyphant & Co Emigration scheme. These negotiations having apparently

apparently engendered much ill feeling on the part of many Chinese towards Messrs. Clyphart & Co. myself and especially the Interpreter, it being frequently said, as he was a Native, he should do all in his power to aid the Authorities in preventing the consummation of any arrangement by which the enterprise could be carried out &c.

2nd The placard was first brought to my notice and its contents explained by the Interpreter, he earnestly expressing a wish that I aid in ascertaining the author and with his uncle the late Dr. Wong, offered a reward of one hundred dollars ($100) for the arrest of the party.

Pursuant to your request I give you the following information regarding the charges.

Charge First — "Kidnapping"

This has reference to the Clyphart & Co's business. The warehouses spoken of are the two buildings opened by Messrs. Clyphart.

Olyphant & Co and their Agent Kwang Huen, one of the parties named "Fei Chien" as the Interpreter partner is Messrs Olyphant & Co's Compadore. The other, "Tang I," was an employe of the Agent (Kwang Huen).

Change two "Gambling"

The house mentioned is the building formerly used by me as a Consulate and is situated next door to Dr. Happers across the canal from Shamien. It is true that a sign "American Consulate" was placed over the rear door way in the wall, facing a street leading into the City. This door was nailed up from the time I took possession until my removal to Shamien and therefore it was impossible for persons to enter or exit except at the front entrance and instead of boasting of his removal to Shamien the change was much against the wishes of both himself and uncle (Dr. Wong) who owned the building, as they were thus deprived of

of the rent.

The same charge was preferred against the Interpreter by Dr. Happer in his letter which was subsequently withdrawn by him, as stated in my report to Minister Seward.

I explained to Dr. Happer at the time that the door was fastened up and had been for months and that such a charge was simply absurd. Charge Three and Four "Issuing notes of the 'White Dove' 'Rape' &c."

Of course I know nothing of the truth or falsity of these charges except what the Interpreter say and that is entire ignorance of any and everything of the kind and very naturally enquired why the names of the parties injured were not given. That if the name of the mandarin whose wife he is charged with seducing was mentioned it would render investigation easy.

Charge Five 'Smuggling'

The only fast boat he is interested in in is a small steam launch which has been into the interior several times and I think always when loaned to some of the officials. I know the Interpreter loaned it several times to the Committee of a large Chinese Hospital who had in charge the supplying necessities to those who had been rendered destitute by the breaking of the embankments of the North river and the consequent overflowing and destruction to property. For these acts of kindness I heard the Viceroy thank him.

Charge Six "Procuring Indictments &c"

The example given, of a claim against one Wai and another against one Pan."

The man Wai was for many years the Comproadore of Messrs Olyphant & Co. and died in their debt to the amount of nearly $10,000.

While Mr Talbot was in charge of the Consulate (Summer of 1875) a claim was was sent to the Authorities against the Estate of Wai. The Authorities ordered the amount to be paid and the Interpreter Mr Talbot and also the late Mr. Preston visited Macao or vicinity where the property was situated, several times, to secure a settlement when at last the money was paid.

The man Pan, borrowed money from Consul Jewell and gave mortgage or deed on house property and Mr Tindall while Consul, collected the amount after considerable trouble. These two cases out of one hundred as charged, are the only ones where names are given, and I dare say the other ninety eight, are entirely imaginary ones.

Charge Seven "Treason &c."

I know of no treasonable acts on the part of the Interpreter.

Regarding the appointment of Ma wang-shu I have to say that he has been for several years Sargeant of a Police station and by order of the Authorities Authorities was to attend to any business from this consulate, if his services were needed in summoning witnesses &c. &c. In October 1877 one of Messrs. Olyphant & Co's servants was attacked by the proprietors and frequenters of a gambling shop on Canal road. Complaint being made to me by Mr. Talbot. I at an interview with the Viceroy, called his attention to the matter, whereupon he removed a Superintendent of Police for permitting gambling to be carried on in violation of his order. On learning this I asked the Viceroy to appoint the Sargeant (Ma Wang Shue) as Superintendent which he did. He held this office as an expectant officer for nearly one year as is the custom with such officers when he was succeeded by another. It is believed that his immediate predecessor (the Superintendent who was removed) is one of the authors of the placard.

Leharge

charge: Eight "Rescuing Chang Tai from prosecution"

Relative to this charge, I have to say that about two years ago the late Mr Preston said to me that two Natives claiming to be of the gentry, and one of them a literary man, had informed him that one Chang Tai had committed some offence for which they had caused his arrest and had sent him to the Poon Yu Magistrate, that the Interpreter by using the Consul's name and card, had succeeded in securing the man's release and he was being protected at the Consulate.

I immediately called the Interpreter's attention to the complaint and he said it was true that such a man had been arrested, that the Elders of the street or district had petitioned the Magistrate; that Dr Wong was one of the petitioners, that the man was unjustly detained &c.

I requested the Poon Yu Magistrate to call to call at the Consulate which he did. Mrs Preston and the Interpreter being present; as they each understood the Cantonese dialect, I requested Mr Preston to investigate the matter to his satisfaction, which he did and then said to me, "There is no truth in the charge. The men have made false statements and mislead me, I will never interfere again in complaints of the kind."

Soon after this, one of the persons making the charge (the literary man) was arrested and imprisoned in Hong Kong for forgery.

Charge nine "Causing imprisonment of poor man"

The man (Lesii Yieh Chi'ing) referred to as having been thrown in jail, is Dr Hopper's teacher, and was imprisoned at my request as stated in my report on the Interpreter, to Minister Seward.

Charge ten "Wearing fifth rank uniform, not kneeling to Superiors &c."

The Interpreter

The Interpreter when accompanying me in my visits to the Authorities or on my receiving them, always wears a badge button &c. indicating the rank as stated.

I dare say if he had no right to do this, the Authorities would soon ascertain it.

He has documents showing that such honor was conferred on him by the Board of Revenue and War (兵部) at Peking and says, the records at Peking will show this fact.

As to kneeling to the Superiors. I am only sorry to say that he has done so. I would much prefer that he was not according to Chinese custom, compelled to kneel. I am fully of the opinion that Dr. Happer's teacher, and the Superintendent of Police who was removed by the Viceroy, are the authors of the placard, but as the Viceroy remarked, when I mentioned the matter to him soon after it was brought to my notice.

You

"You may know or be satisfied in "your own mind who the guilty "party is but if you did not see him "post it or find others who did,
 "you cannot prove it" and said further "It doesn't amount to any"thing and will do no harm. Only "today as I was leaving my office "to call here I was handed a copy "of a placard which had been post"ed, denouncing me as Viceroy, but "do not know who did it. It is a "common thing in this part of "China to attempt to injure others "in this manner &c."

I consider the Interpreter as honest and upright and as good a man for the position as any Native whose services could be secured. He resides with his mother, two sisters, wife and two children in the house next to Dr. Happer.

Having no doubt that you will agree with me, that the charges are simply absurd, and prompted solely solely to gratify malignant enmities

Sir,

I have the honor to state that I am in receipt of a communication from Mr William Condell O'Connell at Durban, informing me of the arrival at that port of a craft under the American flag, called the "Wrecker" on which was the remains of Wesley Clark, an American Citizen, and Captain of the "Wrecker". It seems he was engaged with his craft at the wreck of the steamship "Japan" - That on coming to the surface for the fifth time during the day, having dived down to the wreck at a depth of 23 fathoms, he complained of a giddy sensation, and soon after after expired.

His remains were taken to the nearest port (Quatow) and then interred.

From the Consular Agent's report, it seems the deceased has a daughter, Delfina Clark, also a brother, James Clark, and a sister, Mrs. Cheriella Ingham, residing at Day Brook Conn.

His Agents are Messrs. D. Lamson & Brothers P.O. Box 3919 or 77. Maiden Lane, New York.

Notice of death was duly published in Hong Kong papers. The deceased's effects on board the "Wrecker", were placed in the hands of the Consular Agent and will be cared for as provided by Law.

My attention having been called to the fact by Consul General Bailey, that in my despatch 17277 to the Department requesting leave to visit the United States I omitted to state who would be left in charge of the Consulate during my absence. I now have the honor to say that in view of the absence of my vice Consul 1773 Talbot, and the uncertainty of his returning at an early day, I have as per enclosed copy of dispatch, requested Mr. E. My annual Trade Report which I am now preparing, will be for the year ending 31st August instead of 30th September as heretofore, there not being sufficient time for its preparation to the latter date, if my leave of absence from 15th October be granted, -

On

Pursuant to Consular instructions I have the honor to submit the following report on the trade of this Consular district for the year ending 31st August 1879, accompanying which are tabular statements showing the value of declared exports & tonnage and movements of vessels entering and clearing, quantity and value of principal exports and imports and amount of dues and duties collected by the foreign customs at this port. I also forward you copy of report and statistics furnished me by Consular Agent Williams on the trade at the port of Swatow.

The statistics for this port, exhibit the trade carried on in foreign vessels only, as it is impossible to gain reliable information of value of imports and exports passing through the native customs. Taking into consideration the great number of native vessels (junks) plying between this this, Hong Kong and Macao and the fact that native merchants purchase the bulk of foreign goods at these free ports, importing them through the native customs here, it is believed by those who are very capable of judging that these ports obtain an equal if not greater share of the carrying trade inward of foreign goods. The further fact that foreign vessels can discharge cargo at Canton only, whereas the junks can proceed direct to numerous important inland markets, where the people of the province inland, procure their supplies, it is beyond doubt that the trade in junks exceeds in value the trade to Canton in foreign vessels.

The records of this office show the value of declared exports to the United States to $492,764.93, an increase of some $50,000, over either of the two years next preceeding. The value of actual shipments to the United States of principal exports manufactured, prepared and shipped from this port during the past year, for which invoices were not declared at this Consulate, exceed this amount by at least two million dollars making the value of actual shipment $2,500,000.

The shipment of raw silk by one firm alone, from this port amounts to nearly one million dollars the invoices invoiced being declared at Hong Kong This certifying invoices at Hong Kong of goods so shipped from this port is certainly not in accordance with paragraphs 462 and 463 Consular Regulations, and renders it exceedingly difficult to ascertain facts as to values &c.

Eight hundred and sixty seven steamers and sailing vessels have entered the port during the year, with a total tonnage of 741,563 tons; Of this number only 50 were sailing vessels, a falling off of about one third of the number entering during preceding year.

As stated in my report for 1877, this has been caused by the great competition in river freights between this and Hong Kong.

Within the past month the two lines of river steamers have entered into an agreement discontinuing this opposition by "pooling" their profits. The increase in tariff rates being on an average nearly 400%. The old and new rates on some of the principal articles, being as follows.

	Old	New
Raw cotton, cotton goods per bale 2 cts		35 cents
Sugar " fiscal 3 "		5 "
Raw silk " box 5 "		75 "
Waste " " 5 "		20 "
Tea per ton (40 cubic feet) 30 "		100 "
Cassia " " 10 "		50 "
Matting &c " " 10 "		50 "

This may make it an inducement for sailing

sailing vessels to frequent the port. Of the 50 sailing vessels entering, only 3 were American. One of these arrived from a northern port with cargo of beans, bean cake &c. One, a Chinese junk purchased here by an American, engaged in salvaging a vessel and cargo lost near Swatow, the other, an unseaworthy craft, purchased by natives and brought here to be broken up.

The shipments of tea to the United States from Canton waters are yearly decreasing, the Foochow, Amoy and Japan teas meeting with more ready sale in American markets. The greater part of the trade with the United States in teas from this district, is conducted by Chinese, whose shipments to San Francisco, are destined doubtless, to supply the requirements of their countrymen.

From time to time shipments of fancy teas are made by foreign houses, but reach San Francisco in transit, and frequently destined for South American ports.

Pouchong.—The demand for this class of tea seems almost entirely to have died out. During the past twelve months, no shipments to New York are reported. For the previous year, ending August 31st 1878, shipments were also small, being about 175,000 pounds, the approximate value of which was $25,600. In former years a fair quantity quantity of this tea used to go forward and the present falling off in the demand, is no doubt attributable in a great measure, to the fact of the consumer being able to obtain much better value for his money in common Annam Oolong, prices of which are said to have ruled cheaply lately, on the New York market.

Cargoes—No shipments were made until the spring of the current year, when the new seasons cargoes in Macao, commenced to arrive; some contracts in this teas were made and shipments via San Francisco by the early steamers, amounting to about 50,000 pounds valued at say, $11,000 went forward. The quality of the crop was of a fair average but as it was evident there were but few fine teas, to secure these, rather high prices were paid and some of the best found their way to America. These teas arriving at a market bare of good and fine kinds, it is said met with a favorable reception, the quality and result of the shipments proving very satisfactory to the importers.

Further shipments have been trifling and it would appear therefore that the trade will only turn their attention to these teas when there is an absence of supply of teas from other districts.

Decanted Teas—Shipments as far as is known amounted to about 17,000 tons for the year ending 31st August 1878. This amount seems to have been sufficient to meet the requirements of the trade, no tea of this class having been reported as shipped during the year just closed.

The imports to England for the season of 1878 and 1879. closed very disappointingly. It is said shipments had to meet a market which could well be characterized as the worst than known for Chinese teas of every description, this naturally led to low prices being paid for the new season cargoes on their arrival in April last. The London market being in want of good to find classes, readily bought the early arrivals at fair prices, but as shipments began to arrive in quantity and reports of large transactions in the north, there ~~was~~ also being a strong competition from importers of Indian teas (which latter appear to steadily increase in favor) a decline week after week took place, till prices have now fallen to about the lowest point of last year.

The same may be said of the trade in scented teas. The unsatisfactory character of condition of London market has led to almost cessation of business here. It is said the low prices and depression in trade having entailed on traders such heavy losses that many are now desirous of disposing of their remaining stocks, on almost any terms, in order permanently to close their establishments. From up country, come evidently, well founded complaints of the unremunerative nature of the cultivation of the plant, while the flower used in the preparation of the scented teas peculiar to this district, has been so cheap, that much land hitherto devoted to its production, is now being diverted to other purposes.

During the period now reported on, the following quantities have been sent to Great Britain—

" Scented Capers 95,987 1/2 "

" " Orange Pekoe 2,523,519 " 21,265,729 " Costing $3,500,000 in comparison with the following figures for the previous twelve months—

The exportation of Cassia for the year just closed, has been far in excess of shipments during preceding year, & prices ruling about the same, — 17,921,000 pounds have been exported, valued at $9.00 per picul or $17,025,450. Considerable quantities quantities have also been exported to Europe.

Fire crackers it would seem continue to meet with sale in the United States, The shipments for the year are 209,624 boxes, valued at $157,218.

The shipments of some of the principal exports have been as follows Chinaware 180,90 cases, value, not known Quindries 344,317 pkgs " " " Palm Leaf Fans 10,295 cases " $37,062.
 Preserves 3450 piculs " 44,850

During the year 17,628,766 pounds of Sugar have been shipped to Hong Kong and other ports in foreign bottoms, valued at $7,93,380. — Of this amount only about 200,000 pounds were shipped direct to the United States.

Oil

During the greater part of the period under review this staple of export, has found a good current sale for shipment to New York and other markets of the United States, to which have been forwarded 582,900 pounds weight; of the value of $2,040,150. these figures showing as compared with the previous twelve months, an increase of 283,400 pounds in weight and $1,000,000 in value.

It may be interesting to note, that of the above total of 582,900 lbs, 516,850 lbs have gone via San Francisco, 58,350 lbs via Europe and 7,500 lbs to New York direct.

The

The new crop began to appear in the city, from the country markets, early in May, but before any merchantable quantities had arrived (the stock of old silk having been exhausted) advices to the effect that the European crops had suffered from late frost, reached foreign buyers and the information was soon in the possession of natives.

Remembering the effect on this market produced by similar injury in Europe, in 1876, an unreflecting scramble for silk on any terms, at once commenced, and prices were speedily advanced 25%, dealers then refusing to sell their stocks, and business being for a time suspended.

At an advance of 37% and even 40% from the lowest point, transactions were recommenced, but early in June, came the intelligence that notwithstanding the short crop, speculation which was at one time very great on the European markets, was beginning to languish, that the actual consumption of silk was not progressing satisfactorily and that manufacturers were but little moved by the reduction in apparent supplies of raw material.

Since then there has existed a gradual but almost uninterrupted fall in prices here, at times the only department of this particular trade manifesting any life at all, being that that in connection with the United States - Fluctuations in values during the year will be best shown by citing the Reeled Lacton which at the beginning of September last was selling at $495 per picul. Last season closed in April with this grade quoted $500 and in May, before the period of excitement just referred to, contracts for new season's silk, were entered into at $480. At the beginning of June, the price was $530, ten days later, $550, and August closed with a quotation of $510.

When speaking of reeled silk, it may not be out of place to mention that during the past few weeks a strike amongst operators has interfered with the ordinary course of business, dealers finding it difficult to name a date for delivery under new contracts they may enter into.

The reeling of silk by steam machinery on the French and Italian models, promised at one time, to develop into an industry of special importance, the province finding much favor on the Lyons market.

Of this Filature silk, 688 bales costing $360,000, were sent to Europe during the past year, but changes of fashion in the manufactured article have lessened the demand for the reelers.

moment and the Silatunies which have the advantage of being situated in the sick producing districts, are for the most part using idle, only four of twelve establishments being now at work.

The shipments for the year of raw silk to Europe, are 9,795 bales costing $3,000,000.

The export of matting to the United States during the year under review, exceeds that of any corresponding period for several years past. - For the year 1877 the export was 70,548 rolls, for 1878, 81,954 rolls and for the year just closed 97,838 rolls. The value of the export for this year, being at $5.20 per roll, (the proper average) or $507,576.⁶⁰

The export during the remainder of the season will probably not exceed 45,000 rolls, a considerable falling off, caused by the recent levying of a tax on matting straw, and trouble arising in consequence, between the straw producers, matting manufacturers and tax collectors. The latter attempted to collect more than the tax levied, the producers declined to bring their straw to market and in consequence, the manufacturers discontinued work. This at one time threatened very serious injury to foreign merchants, they being unable to fill extensive orders. At the request of the merchants

merchants and manufacturers, I represented the facts to His Excellency the viceroy, disclaiming ^{however} any desire or intention of interfering with his right to levy such taxes as he might think advisable, but requested him to see that it should not result in stopping business and thus cause serious loss to foreign merchants. - My request was at once complied with; His Excellency removing the tax collector and ordering that the tax be levied on matting instead of straw. Manufacturers are now busily at work.

The manufacture of matting is confined almost exclusively to southern China and is one of the very important industries of this section.

This article of trade is not alone confined to floor matting, so much of which is used in the United States, but enormous quantities are used as sails on all native sailing craft, being much cheaper and in this climate, equally if not more durable than the ordinary canvas or sail cloth.

Large quantities are also used as covering for boxes and packages in which tea, Sugar, Cassia &c are exported, also in making money bags, it being a very convenient mode of handling dollars especially when broken up into small pieces by is the constant stamping or "chopping" of the dollars, as is the custom in this portion of China.

The plant used in making mats, sail &c so extensively used in China, is known as "aquatic grass" also as "rush". It is cultivated extensively in the Chien-hing Department, on the west river, some seventy five miles in the interior, from Canton. I have visited this place twice, where I saw large quantities being grown, in fields flooded with water, as is done in rice cultivation.

It requires very little if any care in its cultivation as it propagates itself, by shoots from the root, and attains a height of from six to eight feet. It is brought to market in bundles of about twelve inches in diameter, and if of proper length and good quality, sells at from 18 to 24 cents per bundle, each being sufficient to make four bed mats, or six, such as are used in making sails.

The district of Tung Kwan on the East river, produces large quantities of this grass, but of a species used almost entirely in the manufacture of floor matting. It is grown in fields similar to the other, but where it is over flooded and left dry by the flooding and and clearing of the tide.

It is said to grow better, in the vicinity of salt water, where the water flooding it is some what brackish.

It is planted usually in the month of June from slips, these are allowed to grow for about two months when they are replanted in rows. The soil should be fertile and is usually made so by manuring with bean cake. It requires nearly one year to mature, when it is cut, the shoots or straws, are split into ^{two} with a knife and when partially dried in the sun, packed in bundles as described, and either manufactured into matting at the city of Tung Kwan or brought to Canton where there are several extensive manufactures.

The planting of slips is only required once in four or five years as they send up fresh shoots similar to the sugar cane, described in a former despatch. If not replanted every four or five years they become coarse and unfit for use.

I recently visited one of the largest manufactures here, owned by a Chinese firm, Chowy Sun, whose brands are well known to dealers in the United States, and as the modes of manufacture, of dyeing, weaving &c observed by me there, may be of interest, I will

day. The grass when brought to the manufactory, is carefully sorted, the perfect being used in manufacturing the pink and the other the poorer quality.

After being thus sorted, it is made into bundles of two or three inches diameter, and placed in large earthen ware jars holding some ten gallons of water, several hundred of these were standing in an open ward. It is allowed to remain thus in soak for three days, when it is taken out and dried in the sun for one day; if to be dyed the ordinary red color, which has been for years much in vogue, it is then placed in other similar jars containing a liquid dye made by soaking red sapara wood chips in water, (boiling, extracts the coloring matter more rapidly). It remains in these jars for five days, then dried one day, then immersed in the dye again for three days, when it is usually ready for use, but if the color is not sufficiently deep it is again placed in the dye for two or three days.

It is only within the past two or three years that other colors, such as green, yellow, and blue, have been used to any extent, the impetus having been given by the introduction of chemical dyes, the usefulness of which the matting-makers seem to fully appreciate.

The solution for coloring yellow is produced from the seeds and flowers of a plant common to China, called "Hui-tai", - A yellow coloring matter is also made by boiling for several hours, twenty five pounds of Pophora japonica in one hundred gallons of water, and adding when cooled, one pound of alum to each ten gallons of the solution.

Green and blue are produced from the twigs and leaves of the "Lam-yeh" or Blue plant, which grows in abundance near Canton. To the solution thus produced a small ^{of chemical dye} quantity is now usually added. In dyeing these colors, the straw is soaked in water for several days, and then immersed in the coloring matter for a few hours only, the solution being hot. - When the vegetable dye alone is used, a longer process, similar to that for dyeing red, is necessary.

Fifty looms were being worked at this manufactory, eight of which were large and forty two small. - The large ones are exactly the same as the ordinary silk loom, and are used in making the very wide and also the damask or carpet patterns. - Three men are required to work each of the large looms, their wages being from thirty to forty cents each, per day. - Eight yards of matting from each loom is considered an average result of a day's work. - The small looms are certainly certainly rude and simple, each being worked by two small boys who are paid from fifteen to twenty cents per day, each, and who daily weave five yards of most perfect matting of the more ordinary patterns.

The loom is composed of two uprights driven into the ground about five feet apart, and about four feet in height, - two cross-bars fit into sockets in the uprights, one at the top, the other about eight inches from the ground. The warps which are strings of Chinese hemp (two ~~four~~ yards in length) are then passed over the upper, and round beneath the lower cross-bar, through the holes in the weaving bar, and being drawn taut, are fastened by both ends, to a long thin piece of bamboo placed parallel with and just below the lower cross-bar.

The weaving-bar and most important part of the loom, consists of a piece of wood varying in length according to the width of matting required, and about two inches square, through this, small holes are pierced at different intervals, into which the warps are passed as stated. The bar can thus be worked up and down on the warps, by means of handles, near the extremities. - These holes vary in distance from each other, according to pattern desired. - Alternately on top and

and bottom, the holes are enlarged or formed into slots converging at the center of the stick in — When the warps have thus been arranged and bundles of different colored straw sufficiently dampened, deposited near the loom, one of the boys raises the weaving bar to the top of the warps, tipping it forward; the slots in the bar allowing the alternate warps to remain perpendicular; the holes carrying the others forward, thus separating them sufficiently to admit of a single straw being passed between them, this is done by means of a long flat piece of bamboo, a notch being cut near the end, into which one end of the straw is placed and then used as a shuttle — When the bamboo is withdrawn the weaving bar descends, carrying the straw to the bottom, — the bar is then raised again and tipped down, thus carrying the warps backward which had just before been pressed forward, The work of the shuttle being repeated — As the weaving bar passes the straw down, the weaver gives the ends of the straw a half turn, round the outside warps, the operation as described being repeated until the warps are full, the edges are trimmed the warps untied, the matting (now two yards in length) removed and a new set of warps put on.

The matting thus woven is then dried both in the sun and over a slow fire.

The shrinkage consequent on this drying is nearly four yards in forty.

When

When dried it is stretched on a frame and worked down tight by hand, then sent to the packing house where numerous men are engaged in fastening the two yard lengths together, it requiring twenty lengths to make the ordinary roll. The fastening together, is done by taking the projecting ends of the warps of one piece, and by means of a large bamboo needle, passing them back and forth through the reeds of an other piece, in fact sewing them together. Each roll of forty yards is then nicely covered with a coarse plain straw mat, marked and numbered ready for shipment.

Imports

From accompanying tabular statements it will be seen that among the principal imports are cotton goods, yarn, lead, quicksilver, opium, gunpowder &c.

It is quite impossible to give figures or importation of cotton goods from the United States, the Customs records not showing whether importations are of American or European manufacture. There were 156,861 pieces imported during the year as follows.

Pieces	Pieces
Hustings grey 52,897	Hustings white 82,515
" Dyed 26,95	" Cloth 46,079 Drills 40,75 at a total value as declared at Customs House of $621,825—

From native dealers I learn that enquiry for American brands is gradually

gradually increasing, that it is frequently the case, where goods costing the same, to the casual observer, the European manufacture appears heavier and of finer and smoother surface, but that experience is rapidly convincing the masses of the superiority of American brands. There is no doubt if our manufactures continue to keep up the quality of their goods as in the past, and can give importers or commission agents in China, facilities equal to those by European manufacturers, the people of China will become satisfied of the advantage gained by purchasing pure & unadulterated goods instead of those made expressly to sell -

As trade in the productions of China usually consumed by western nations, increases, the value of labor in other pursuits being enhanced, the manufacture of cotton fabrics in China will decrease, thus creating a still greater demand for American and European cotton piece goods which can be supplied as cheaply as their own productions and of superior quality.

Our manufacturers and commission agents at home and in China should imitate their European competitors in two things only, i.e., earnest cooperation and persistent efforts in keeping a full supply in China for the Chinese purchaser, and to sell on credit of from

are to four months if required, until they are thoroughly introduced and well known in the markets of American make.

From 1850 until recently, European manufacturers have had the field to themselves, the natives almost forgetting that cotton goods were manufactured in America, although prior to that date the bulk consumed in China, was supplied from the United States. They have become accustomed to seeing and purchasing the European brands, and there is nothing requiring more persistent and long continued effort, than to induce a China man to take a new departure.

American merchants in China not being restricted to the sale of the productions of any particular country, very naturally use their best exertions in dealing in such goods as are most in demand and most profitable to them; therefore it is useless to expect them to urge upon buyers the superiority of our goods, unless inducements are held out to them insuring success and equal remuneration for their efforts.

The lead trade has become of considerable importance. Over 60,000 piculs were imported during the year; nearly one third this amount being American lead brought from San Francisco.

The amount used through out China for tea box linings, cannot be less than 15,000 tons; Large quantities are the manufacture of we also used, paint, shot, &c. -

The European lead continued until quite recently, to meet with more ready sale at slightly advanced figures, but it is now said, the American brand is equally sought after, and at prices varying but little, if any. Our production will certainly supersede the European lead in the markets of the East, if it can be supplied in sufficient quantities at same price. - Prices have ranged at from $5.20 to $6.00 per picul. Stocks are now low and in demand at the latter figure.

The obstacles to foreign trade at Pak Hoi mentioned in my report for 1877 continue to exist and to successfully prevent trade at that port in foreign bottoms notwithstanding the fact that no port on the China coast is more easy and safe, for ingress and egress, being free from hidden dangers, the Channel deep and wide, and its land marks conspicuous and the harbor the best one possessed by China in the Tongquin Gulf -

Traders in Hong Kong with Pak Hoi, have frequently complained of the excessive Lien taxation; but this is not the only obstacle; the duty levied by the native customs, is on an average, nearly 50% less on foreign goods, than when passed through the foreign Customs, where duties are collected as per Treaty tariff.

Prior.

Prior to the opening of Hoi-fong, in Amoy, a large portion of its trade passed through Pak Hoi, but has then been diverted, as this trade is now carried on direct between Hoi-fong, Hong Kong and other ports north. - Yunnan also now sends her produce, or a large portion of it, to Hoi-fong, in consequence of superior facilities of water carriage, and direct communication with the outer world. - This divergence of the Yunnan trade is also attributed to the pecuniary policy of permitting each province to manage its financial affairs with out much regard for the welfare of the Empire at large, and levying burdensome taxes on goods which are merely in transit. -

During the past twelve months, not one foreign vessel has entered the port.

This state of things I fear, can not be obviated except by an exact equalization of dues on foreign goods, whether imported in foreign or native vessels. - If this could be secured, the more rapid transit, and consequent greater facilities offered by foreign craft, would render their use desirable and they would without doubt be employed.

It is beyond my power to obtain reliable statistics of the trade at this port, it being as stated, carried on exclusively through native channels and those who

who could furnish such information seems to entertain the apprehension that publicity would prove injurious to their interests. It is well known however that a very ^{large} trade both export and import, is carried on.

The imports, principally from Macao, consist of raw cotton, cotton yarn, manufactured cotton goods, woolen goods, iron, tobacco, Chinese matches &c.

It is estimated that 150,000 pieces cotton goods and 5000 pieces woolens are imported annually and that this trade in general goods from Macao, amounts to dollars 1,500,000 per annum, and the export trade to an equal amount. There is also considerable trade with Peking, Singapore, Saigon, Hainan and Quatow.

The principal exports and usual destinations are as follows -

Consolidated State	Macao
Cassia	"
Sticks	"
Iron cooking vessels	Quatow, Hainan &c
Rice	Hainan, Macao, Canton
Opium	"
Manufactured	"

The iron cooking vessels mentioned are said to be manufactured in large quantities in the province of Kwang Si and it is believed at least half a million pieces are sent annually through Pak Hoi to the twists mentioned. They are from 9 to 20 inches in diameter and sell according to size, at from 20 to 50 cents each. -

A very large portion of the exports mentioned, are products of the provinces of Yunnan and Kweichow, the greater part of the imports through Pak Hoi, finding sale in those provinces. -

Rice is the staple product of the latter named province, large quantities of this and other productions finding a market at Fat Chan and Canton - being brought in native craft, down the West river, which stream traverses the whole length of the province, having numerous large tributaries, its source being in the province of Yunnan.

This stream is said to be navigable for small craft to the Yunnan province. I have visited different ^{points} on this river to a distance of 230 miles from Canton, travelling on a small steamer (a Revenue Cruiser) drawing about 6 feet, and found ample depth of water for even greater draft. -

The opening of this river to steamer traffic has been by some, frequently advocated. This doubtless would be an important step in the line of progress, the greater facilities rapid transit by steam power would offer, would give an impetus to trade in the productions of those inland provinces and would prevent the diversion of the Yunnan coffee and and the trade which is not inconsiderable, to the French settlement of Hoi-fong, in Tong-quin.

Not being able to procure statistics to date of the trade at the port of Kien-Chow (Hoi-Hoi) those I give are for the year ending 30th June 1879.

Native merchants at that port unlike those at Pak-Hoi, it would seem, have readily become convinced of the advantage gained by employing foreign steam vessels, in preference to native craft, in the carrying trade at that port. There were 97 steamers and 5 sailing vessels entered and cleared during the year, nearly double the number visiting that port during same period of preceding year; this is in part due to the increasing importance of Hoi-fong, between which port and Hong Kong there is considerable trade, numerous steamers flying on that route call in at Hoi-Hoi en route.

The export trade per steamers, is carried on principally with Saigon, Hong Kong and northern ports. The steamers usually engaged in the Hoi-man trade have found ample employment in the trade between the ports named.

The difficulties encountered at other open ports, in obtaining correct information of the exact proportions in in which foreign and native vessels respectively share in the carrying trade, is not worth at 40:100. It is however confidently believed, that the lions share is taken by foreign vessels.

The trade at this port has gradually increased, whether it is susceptible of very great expansion is doubted by many, though the island is known to be very fertile in many portions, and densely populated, though generally, by the poorer and more ignorant classes who are accustomed to live without the luxuries of foreign productions.

The importations of foreign goods during the year ^{under} review are greatly in excess of those for preceding year - 33 000 pieces of foreign cotton goods were imported as follows

Shirtings, grey,	pieces	3,035
" white,	"	9,373
" Dyed	"	280
T. cloth	"	18,213
Drills English	"	1,470
" American	"	994

These goods have to compete however with extensive manufacture of goods very suitable for the people, carried on in the island; also with native manufactures imported from northern ports - and dealers claim they have not found ready sale as anticipated for foreign goods. - Flour was imported to the amount

amount of 460 piculs or 5000 pounds -

Matches are in general use, having superseded the use of the flint, only within the past few years. ... Nearly 3000 gross found sale at this port during the year.

Sugar continues to be the principal export - 75,912 piculs were shipped to Hong Kong and other ports during the past season.

The value of imports and exports in foreign bottoms, amount to a little over $2,000,000 and the duties collected by the foreign Customs to $97,255.

There is a considerable industry in silk piece goods, in the north eastern part of the island, where silk is largely produced, both the raw and manufactured production find sale ^{at} Canton and other native ports. - The manufactured article is very similar to the Chefoo Ponjee, and sells at from $5.00 to $9.00 for forty yards, 16 inches wide.

Emigration

There has been no emigration of natives direct, from this, to foreign countries, for several years, until within the past few months, such emigration from this portion of the Empire having been almost exclusively carried on under British jurisdiction, from the Colony of Hong Kong.

As stated in my despatch No 49 of 14th June 1878. (Report on the Olyphant & Co emigration scheme to Honolulu and Peru), influence was brought to bear bear from Hong Kong and other sources, inducing the Chinese Authorities here to put in force, such regulations as would prevent the carrying out of that enterprise. - The most stringent of these regulations and the last one put in force, was that, persons desiring to emigrate must produce a certificate from some responsible native merchant, that, such emigrants were bona-fide free passengers, i.e., had each personally prepaid the fare or passage money. It was understood that this could be arranged by a free use of dollars with some of the subordinate officials, but Messrs. Clyffhant & Co. very promptly and properly declined to conduct the business on such terms.

Notwithstanding these regulations, there have within the past three months, four German vessels sailed from this, to the Hawaiian Islands, carrying an aggregate of 1115 passengers. I am informed on reliable authority, that the two officials deputed to examine the passengers, with one or two others interested in the profits, are the proprietors of the shop (recently established) which certifies to the bona-fides of the business as required by the above stated regulation. One of the vessels mentioned, sailing first with passengers, was stopped by the Hong Kong authorities, but after considerable delay and much correspondence was permitted to proceed. Those sailing subsequently, have avoided entering Hong Kong waters. Another of these vessels is expected to load here soon for same destination.

It is reported that the China Merchants Steam Navigation Company, propose placing a line of Steamers on the Honkoku route, and with it is said, if profitable, ultimately extend the line to Peru -

Missionaries

Since the authorities have virtually conceded to foreigners the right of residence in the interior, several Chapels have been established at different points, by our missionaries; this has in two or three instances, met with considerable opposition from the natives -

Some six months ago a chapel and Dispensary at Kow Kong, distant some 30 miles from Canton, which had been established by the Presbyterian Mission at this port, was with its contents, destroyed by a mob; native Christians were in charge, and sought safety by flight -

Applications being made for redress and protection in future, the Authorities very promptly paid the damage and issued and posted proclamations, ordering the people to keep the peace and refrain from such violation of law. This it was hoped, would prove sufficient, but on reopening the place of worship, it was again destroyed and violent threats issued in placards denouncing the foreigners and especially the missionaries.

were also extensively feared.

I again represented the facts to His Excellency the Viceroy, who informed me that he has ordered the Provincial Judge and Nam-hoi Magistrate to investigate and settle the matter without delay.

The missionaries readily acquiesced in my opinion, that to persist in opening this Chapel might lead to very serious trouble, and certainly would not tend to further the work in which they were engaged, and that to withdraw for a time from this particular locality, where the people, especially the "Literate", appeared so peculiarly hostile, was advisable. Similar disturbances though not so serious, have occurred in other localities.

- Rebellion in Kwang-Si -

For several years past the Southern portion of China has been comparatively free from internal disturbances; in October last, however, a rebellion of considerable proportions, was started in the adjoining province of Kwang-Si. Though it has not yet been suppressed, it has been sufficiently so, to allay the uneasiness experienced at one time, by both foreigners and law abiding natives. The originator and leader of this rebellion (Li Yung-Choy) was a popular military mandarin, holding an appointment as general in the province mentioned - This was, however, the first time he has been engaged in rebellious pursuits, as he at one time, held a high command among the rebels during the Tai Ping rebellion, the Chinese Government, finding him at that time, a very formidable antagonist, offered him a pardon and an appointment, if he would join the Imperial forces - Accepting this offer, he was placed in command of troops, sent to restore order on the Tongquin borders - Serving the government faithfully, until considering that his title to higher preferment had been ignored, and was likely to continue so, he again raised the banner of rebellion -

Being in affluent circumstances, and popular among the masses in his native province (Kwang-Si), who have ever been prone to rebellion, he found but little difficulty in inducing a great number to join him - Though his intentions were shrouded in mystery, but few believed him so insane as to attempt the overthrow of the general government -

Devising a following of it is said, at least fifty thousand men; he made public his object by proclaiming his title as hereditary ruler of Anam, and proceeded to march his forces in that direction, taking possession of important cities in Yunnan and two provinces in Tongquin - At this time the Viceroy at Canton Carton was applied to for assistance in suppressing the rebellion. Further than dispatching two or three gun vessels with a few troops to the Tongquin gulf and issuing orders prohibiting the sale of arms and munitions of war, very little has been done. The Hong Kong and Macao Governments also prohibited dealing with the rebels in war materials. One or two engagements took place between the rebels and Anamites resulting disastrously to the latter, when government troops arrived from Kwang Si and the rebels met with defeat. The French in Anam rendered no assistance further than supplying the Anamites with arms &c.

Li-Yung Choy, professing fear of complications with the French, withdrew to the mountainous districts on the Yunnan borders where he still remains.

The inhibition of the exports of arms and ammunition by the Hong Kong and Macao Governments has been abrogated and it is presumed the provincial authorities see no further necessity for such strict precautions.

Insurrection in Hainan.

An insurrection of considerable magnitude also occurred on the island of Hainan, in this Province, at the close of last year, continuing for several months.

This was arising of the Hakkas it was said to have originated on account of the official "squeezes" to which these people were were subjected, others say it was caused by differences arising between the natives of Hainan and the Sakkas, who were several years since, compelled by the authorities, to remove from the main-land at a point some distance below Macao, to this island.

What ever may have been the cause, the Sakkas to the number of several thousand, took possession of important towns on the island, causing great destruction to life and property and interfering very materially with all business pursuits. Several engagements with Hainan troops took place, in which the rebels were victorious, they appearing within a few miles of Hoi Hoi. The Canton Authorities dispatched assistance to the local mandarin of Hainan, and at last offered pardon to all who would lay down their arms - being without the simplest necessities of life and having no well defined object in view, they accepted the offer: where upon the authorities compelled them to migrate to the island of Wai-Chow, mentioned in my report on Hainan and Pak Hoi in 1877; as being in the gulf of Tongquin.

- Climate and Health -

The past summer has been unusually cool, the thermometer seldom showing over 70° , the average being about 83° while at Shanghai and other points north the heat has been excessive.

The rainy season which generally commences in February or March, continuing usually, two or three months, did not put in an appearance this season until about May first, there being but brief intervals free from rain since, until with in the past few days.

Notwithstanding what would be characterized as an unusually wet summer, the foreign population have been remarkably free from diseases generally so prevalent in this climate during the summer months. The native population have not been so fortunate however, there being very many cases of fever. At one time it was reported that cholera had assumed epidemical proportions in one part of the city. I am told however by our only foreign physician (Dr. Barrow) that the disease ~~was not~~ cholera but a severe form of continued fever. It is said, over 2000 deaths occurred within three weeks in one locality, near the City limits, from this disease.

During the month of June, small pox, caused great havoc among the natives on the island of Storram, just across the river from Canton, almost depopulating two large villages.

No Typhoons or wind storms of any great severity, have visited this locality since the terrific and disastrous disastrous tornado in April last year, causing as it did, nearly seven thousands deaths -

- Visit of General Grant -

No occurrence during my residence in China, caused so much interest among both foreigners and natives at this port, as the visit of General Grant -

All seemed to vie with each other in doing him honor, and it is pleasant to state that his reception at this the first Chinese port visited by him, was all that could be desired.

The native officials received him with all the honors due so distinguished a personage, and cheerfully did all in their power to render the visit of himself and party, as pleasant as possible.

Both my official and personal relations with the native authorities continue to be of a very pleasant and harmonious character -

I have the honor to be

Copy of report on trade at Swatow for year ending 31st Aug 1879

No 74 United States Consular Agency Swatow September 9th 1879.

Sir

In reply to your No 727 I have the honor to enclose a report on the trade of this District, although not complete, it is the best that I am at present able to obtain, soon after receiving your dispatch. I addressed the Chinese Commissioner of Customs, asking that official if he would kindly inform me what number of native vessels entered and cleared at his office, during the month and year from all ports, and the value of the cargoes, brought in and cleared from Swatow in Native craft.

In reply he stated that his Books were made up every month and sent forward to Canton, and he was consequently unable to give me the desired information.

I am satisfied however that he could furnish this information if he wished, but I have an impression that they fear to give the facts from some idea that I wished a sinister use of them, such being the case I have had to seek information in other quarters— from Native Merchants, from which I have arrived at the following results, for the year ending August 31st 1879 some 287 Sea going Chinese junkets have arrived at this port from different parts of the coast, Saigon and Singapore included, averaging about (2500) two thousand five five hundred piculs of cargo, each, consisting chiefly of rice, sugar, cotton cloth, nut cake, timber, crockery ware, Paddy, coals, Becks Sweet Potatoes, Rattans, Fish, Indigo, Camphor wood, and cotton seeds, amounting to not less in value, than Taels 1,785,000. Some 203 have cleared with cargo valued at about Taels 495,840. In addition to this there is a very large local trade done with small craft and boats, which far exceeds this amount, and cannot be ascertained with any accuracy, only through the Chinese officials, who decline to give the necessary information -

The general trade of the port is steadily increasing and becoming yearly more under the control of the Native Merchants; in fact the Foreign Merchants have almost ceased to import goods direct, of any kind, all kinds of goods being now supplied through Hong Kong and Shanghai -

The majority of cotton goods imported are of English manufactures. German cotton goods are also brought in, in small lots, and the Native Traders in this district prefer these two classes of goods, not on account of their good quality, but simply because, American cotton goods in this market have been and are still rather limited in quantity, the supplies of English piece and cotton goods are principally imported from Hong Kong, at which port the the Native merchants can trade and receive favourable terms in buying; one and two months credit, being given by Foreign merchants to Chinese buyers of Cotton goods in Hong Kong, this is a question which should seriously interest the manufacturers of Cotton goods in the United States. There appears to me no reason why American Cotton goods should not yield a handsome profit in this Market, if the business was conducted on the same liberal principles, with facilities equal to what the Chinese purchasers are accustomed to receive from British Merchants in Hong Kong, and elsewhere in China.

Swatow is a port having an extensive trade in Opium, and all kinds of Foreign goods, being a repository for the supplying of goods to a very extensive and densely populated part of the Kwang Tung Province. Foreign goods and large quantities of Opium find their way through this port into the 'Fo Kien' and Kwang Si Provinces; this latter trade passes through this port, on account of a lower 'Le Kien' duty being charged here than at the other open ports.

Exports.

Sugars are the principal exports from Swatow as will be seen by the accompanying Table, which has been yearly increasing in quantity since 1876. Tea, principally Oolong, are shipped from here to Hong Kong, and other coast ports in small quantities, also Tobacco.

Grass

Mass cloth and oranges in large quantities are sent all over the coast and sundry other articles of local products.

The carrying coast trade is done principally by British Steamers, and Sailing vessels, next to British, comes the German Vessels: during the year some 13 American Vessels have entered and cleared, which is a slight improvement upon late years. I am also glad to note that American Sailing Vessels are yearly increasing in China waters. I would now call your attention to the following viz:

The following Tables show the number of American and Foreign Vessels, entered and cleared to and from Swatow, for the year ending 31st of August 1879

Sugars from Swatow are principally exported to Shanghai direct from which port this article is shipped by steamers and junkets to all the Yang Tze River ports, also to Japan, Chefoo, Tientsin, and Newchwang. moderate quantities have been shipped by the coast steamers to Hongkong for shipments to England, Australia and Europe, no direct shipments have been made to any port of the United States, this last year on account of the high prices ruling out here with comparatively moderate prices in America.

I shall endeavour however to carry out the Department's wishes as far as practicable, and will forward to the National Board of Health a weekly Report together with such information as I may from time to time be able to procure relative to the sanitary conditions of the district within this consular jurisdiction.

I may mention that it will be impossible to obtain any reliable information from the Chinese officials as they do not keep any record or publish any medical report, except those compiled by the medical staff in connection with the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs Service.

A service of some length in acute appreciation of injustice & suffered embolden me to address you on a subject for which I solicit your consideration; and trusting that you will pardon my occupying your attention with a matter to a great extent of a personal nature. I will venture to recite the chief circumstances which now urge me to write

Yours truly
Gibson

About the month of September last 1871 Lincoln was applied to by His Excellency the Viceroy of the Two Kiangs for assistance in procuring a supply of ordnance similar in style to ordnance already in use.

Mr Lincoln through me as Interpreter explained to His Excellency that he was about to go home on a short leave, that he had no doubt of obtaining your sanction, and would be happy to comply with H E's request.

Immediately prior to 1872 Lincoln's departure the Viceroy asked for a document specifying the nature of the proposed transaction, but before all could be thoroughly

thoroughly completed it became necessary for Mr Lincoln to proceed to Hong Kong in order to embark on the steamer by which he had engaged his passage.

The document referred to was therefore left in my charge for completion and I, while acting, I beg to assure you, in perfect good faith allowed myself to fall into what I now learn was the grave error of attaching the seal of the Consulate without having first obtained the sanction of Mr. Cheeshe who had assumed charge three days previous.

On reflection I can see how reprehensible my action was, but Sir, I venture to plead in extenuation intimation that it was highly necessary no time should be lost, and also that attaching the seal as stated I have in no way profited, while unfortunately for myself I have suffered at Mr. Cheskin's hands the extreme severity of a suspension from my office.

This Dis is an indignity for which I now venture to appeal to you for redress.

My commission dated 8th June 1875 bears on its face a certificate from Mr. Tyndall late Consul here, and under existing circumstances I do not hesitate to point with pride to a document of which a copy is I believe in your possession, containing a written

written testimony to my character and conduct signed by so many of the American Citizens resident in Canton and its environs that I can think of but one exception and it is I am aware greatly to the one resident I refer to that I am now indebted for what I can but regard as a persecution, Mr. Wheshire having suffered himself to fall dangerously under the influence of the individual.

In conclusion Sir I beg most respectfully to petition you that my suspension from office as ordered by Mr. Wheshire be annulled and that I be permitted to resume my duties in which I have taken the greatest pride since

I first had the honor I so highly appreciate of being appointed &

No 92. United States Consulate Canton November 24. 1879 Honorable F. W. Stewart Assistant Secretary of State
Washington D.C.

Sir:

I have to report to the Department, that I have this day temporarily suspended Chin Shun Shiang, the Interpreter at this Consulate, for having without my knowledge or consent, taking the Chinese official seal of this Consulate, out of this office on the 21st day of October last. Three days after I had assumed charge of this Consulate - and on the same day affixing the same to an agreement or contract, which was written on the same day at a Chinese manner {Shan Hon Chii} in the name of Mr Consul Lincoln and the said manner {Shan Hon Chii} for the purchase of guns of English manufacture by Mr. Lincoln in London, England.

As the Department is aware, I took charge of this Consulate on the 18th of October. A few days after, I was informed by an official foreigner at this port that Mr. Lincoln had signed a contract with the Provincial Authorities authorities for the purchase of $100,000 worth of guns while he was in London.

 I replied that I thought he had been misinformed, for I did not think Mr.
 Lincoln would do such a thing in violation of the Consular Regulations, paragraphs 841, 845 and 846. But a few days ago, I was surprised, at the news I heard from a Chinese official about the Interspinner at this Consulate Cui Ksin Whiang, taking the Chinese official seal of this Consulate, on the 15th of October last to a Chinese Yamen in this city called the Shan Hon Chai and then affixing it to an agreement made out in Chinese, on that day, & between Mr. Lincoln officially, as U. S.
 Consul, and the Chinese Provincial Authorities at Canton; and, that, the agreement had been written in duplicate on two papers which had been signed by Mr. Lincoln in blank on the 15th day of October last. I was also informed by the said official that the native authorities here, looked upon the agreement as an official matter and enquired if there was a record of it in this Consulate to which I replied that I had not seen any, neither did I know anything about it, further than what I had heard from a certain foreign official at the port which which I thought was a mere rumor.

 I at once commenced an investigation privately, for I did not want the interpreter to know of it, for fear he would lay a plan to prevent me carrying out the object I had in view. Upon the 26th of this month, I called on the Provincial Treasurer, as I was informed that he was the head of the "Shan Hon Chii" and asked him if there was such an agreement and if he would allow me to see it. He immediately sent a messenger to the "Shan Hon Chii" who brought the document which I examined.
 I did not make known to him the object I had in view. I noticed the agreement was made out in Mr. Lincoln's official name, as United States Consul, but it was signed "L. P. Lincoln October 15 1879" and over the signature was the Chinese official Seal of this Consulate. The agreement was dated in Chinese according to the Chinese Calendar Kwang Hsin 5th year, 9th moon, 7th day [October 21st 1879] and according to the English Calendar the 23rd of October 1879. I asked the Provincial Treasurer where the agreement was was sealed with the Chinese seal and he informed me that it was done on the 21st of October. He appeared somewhat surprised at my asking him this question but I did not let him know my purpose. The next day, the 21st instant, I called on two translators & deputies of the Shan Hon Chii for the purpose of ascertaining whether the said agreement or contract had been written at that place on the 21st day of October; who wrote it, and who sealed it with the Chinese official seal of this Consulate etc. I was informed that Lin Shin Shiang, the interpreter on the 21st of October last brought two papers signed in blank "W. P. Lincoln October 15. 1879" to this office, Shan Hon Chii & there had the agreement written by his private Chinese writer in the name of "Mr. Robert Lincoln and the Shan Hon Chii," and afterwards affixed this Consulate seal to it. He was also informed that the two papers which Mr. Lincoln had signed in blank, and unofficially, bore the impressions of the Chinese official seal of this Consulate; this I cannot understand for if Mr. Lincoln intended the agreement to be an official one I should have thought thought that he would have signed his name as "United States Consul" and also informed me about it.

I may mention that I saw two receipts for money at the office of the Khan Koo Khii required by Mr. Lincoln, unofficially one dated Canton October 15th for the amount of $2000. and the other dated Hongkong October 23rd 1879 for pounds sterling 5,986.2.6.6; the former amount to meet expenses of telegraphing etc. in connection with the purchase of the gun which are to be brought of Sir Wm. Armstrong & Co. London, and the latter amount, the first installment on account of the purchase.

As the Chinese Authorities look upon the agreement as an official matter with this Consulate and as the seal was used after I had assumed charge, the Department will see the very awkward and unpleasant position I am thus placed in, and I cannot but communicate all the facts of the case in self defense.

scrub out of this office without my knowledge. I will explain this. When I reached Canton on the morning of the 18th of October, I found that Mr. Entreprenier had gone to Hongkong and he did not return until that evening. I enquired of the Chinese writer of this Consulate, where the Chinese official seal was and he informed me that Mr. Entreprenier had it locked up in his private drawer. I was very busy for some days and did not think about asking Mr. Entreprenier for it, and on the 21st instant he went to Hongkong after sealing the agreement. He saw Mr. Linker, when he took the money receipt for on the 23 of October.

I try to ask the Department in reference to the enclosed copies of letter which have passed between Mr. Yui Kuen Chiung and this office also to send copy of the letter I sent him temporarily suspending him from this office.

I shall forward a copy of the agreement, with translation, and any other papers I may be able to get in connection therewith to the Department by next American mail.

will approve of my action in the

Sir

As you stated to me verbally that Lincoln told you that the agreement for the purchase of guns of English manufacture made between him and the Chinese Authorities (Shan Hou Chui) was to be an official one (i.e. between this Consulate and the Chinese Authorities) I have to request that you will confirm same in writing; and inform me whether Mr Lincoln, when he signed the two blank papers, gave you an English draft of the contents written on the said blank papers by your Chinese writer at the Shan Hou Chui the twenty first day of October last, days after I assumed charge of this Consulate. I have also to request you to inform me or explain to me the reason, there is no record of the agreement in the archives of this Consulate, if the matter is an official affair.

Please favour me with a reply soon as you can and oblige.

You have admitted to me in writing that on the 21st day of October last three days after I had taken charge of this office, you took the Chinese official seal of this Consulate without my knowledge or consent, to a Chinese office in this city called the 'Shan Hau Chui' and there did seal on the same day an agreement or contract in duplicate with the said official seal of this Consulate which was written in Chinese on the same day by your Chinese writer; you have also admitted that you were acting under the instructions of Mr Consul Lincoln in using the said seal on the day above written (21st October) That Mr Consul Lincoln should have so instructed you I cannot understand knowing as he (Mr Lincoln) did that I had assumed charge of this Consulate on the 18th day of October and that I was responsible for the use of the Consular seals on and after that date.

Under the circumstances I would not be fulfilling my duty as a Consular officer to allow you to remain in this office and to continue to perform the duties of Interpreter when you have committed an act which has involved this Consulate in trouble and knowing as I do, from reliable authority thority, that you had done all in your power to prevent me learning of your having (without my authority) used a Chinese official seal of this consulate.

The excuse you put forward of having acted under Mrs Consul Lincoln's instructions is a very poor one, ^{and} does not in the least justify or vindicate your action. Mrs Lincoln had no right whatever to authorize you to use the seal (official) of a consulate after I had assumed charge.

For the very grave offence you have thus committed I hereby temporarily suspend you from this office until the order of the Honorable Secretary of State can be made known, and I must request you to hand over at once all the letters, papers, books or other properties that you may have in your possession belonging to this consulate.

I am Sir

Yours &c.

Sir
Referring to my despatch No 92 of yesterday's date, I have the honor to inform the Department that after I had mailed it I received a communication from His Excellency the Viceroy of Canton informing this office that he regarded the purchase of war materials which involved the expenditure of large sums of money as a matter, not only as one of an official character but one which it was necessary to be carried out under contract, but that the Shan Kou Chui and the Shi Shi Chui (Chinese Arsenal - which is also interested in the agreement signed by Mr. Hirsch) - had not reflected that they had entered into an agreement with Mr. Hirsch until after I had brought the matter to his notice.
His Excellency said to me to day in person that he could not consider the agreement as it bore the Consular official seal resub- any other than an official matter. I had a long conversation with His Excellency on the subject, and he has promised me to send this in particulars which I will forward a translation of the agreement - a copy of which I received from the Provincial Treasurer and Judge

United States Consulate

Honorable F. W. Seward

Washington D.C.

Sir:-

Referring to my despatches Nos 92 and 93 upon the subject of Mr.
Consul Lincoln's agreement with the Provincial authorities at Canton for the purchase of guns etc. of English manufacture and of my having temporarily suspended Yi Chin Chiang the Interpreter at this office for taking the official seal of this Consulate from this office without my knowledge or consent and sealing the said agreement three days after I had had assumed charge of this office, I now have the honor to enclose herewith the following documents, viz: —

as enclosure No 1 copy of translation of agreement referred to, as in enclosure No 2 copies of correspondence which has passed between His Excellency the Viceroy of Canton and the writer, as enclosure No 3 copies of letters sent by Mr.
Consul Lincoln to the same official and as enclosure No 4 copies of letters sent by Hui Shin Chiang - the Interpreter - to the Shan Hon Chii. — (Provincial Administrator office.)

I do not think that it is necessary for me to make any observations upon

upon the above documents further than to call the Department's attention to the things communications to this office, in enclosure number 2, which show that His Excellency considers the agreement as an official one between this Consulate and the Provincial Authorities and looks to this office to either carry the same into effect or to recover the amount of money paid to Mr. Consul Lincoln; and in my despatch No 852, in same enclosure, the Department will observe the position I have assumed in deferring action in the premises until I receive instructions from my superior officers.

I ought to say that the Provincial Authorities authorities, especially the Treasury, view the action of Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Tulliver in an unfavorable light and do not understand them being in record of the agreement in this consulate.

I believe the Department is aware of charges having been brought against Mr. Tulliver at various times and although some of them may have been mere fabrications yet from what I have seen and heard since I took charge of this office convince me beyond doubt that his career for the past three years has been very bad and that he has committed acts which have not increased the reputation of this consulate

consulate in the minds of the Chinese.

At an interview I had with the Viceroy a short time since His Excellency mentioned that he had been asked to change the Chinese date in the agreement to the 15th of October, but declined to do so.

His Excellency refused to disclose the name of the person making the request but I heard from very good authority that it was the Interpreter. His Excellency (at the same interview) showed me a despatch which he had received from this Consulate about a Chinese case and which was written in English in the handwriting of the Interpreter and

and signed by Mr. Lincoln, the signatures however, may have been a forgery. On my return to the consulate I searched the archives but could not find any record of the said dispatch having been written. I found the Chinese version of the dispatch however, concealed in the Intiputis office after I had suspended him.

I merely mention this case as another instance of the Intiputis misdeemeanor and I may say that there are other cases of a similar character which I shall investigate later on when I have more time.

Sir

1st After the signing of this contract one third of the amount the Shan Hsu Chii will send to the United States Consul as bargain money to be calculated at exchange $5.52 per pound sterling, who will get a draft on London, and when he arrives in England he agrees to go to Sir William Armstrong & Co and arrange for the purchase of the guns as specified.
 After the agreement for the purchase of the guns has been settled, the United States Consul will pay the bargain money and get Messrs Sir Wm Armstrong & Co receipt for same. Three months after the signing of this contract, or agreement, the United States Consul will telegraph (to Canton) so that the Shan Hsu Chii can send one third more of the purchase money (2nd installment) talment) to one of the Hong Kong Banks and get a telegraphic transfer to be sent to him (the United States Consul) who if he finds that, the manufacturers are doing the work properly will pay said amount to them. Should Messrs Sir William Armstrong & Co refuse to undertake the contract then the U.S. Consul will send back the money; but if they consent to supply the guns etc. then their receipts for payments made to them are to be sent to the Shan Hoo Chie.

When the guns etc. are completed and have been thoroughly examined and tried, they are to be packed in boxes and shipped on board a vessel (steamer for China) the expenses of packing ^{and} cart hire from the manufactory to the vessel, not to exceed the amount specified in one of the following articles. The amount necessary for this purpose together with the amount necessary to provide for Marine Insurance the United States Consul will inform the Interpreter about who will make the same known to the Shan Hoo Chie; they will pay the amount to the Interpreter who will send same forward in a draft (to England).

The agreement in English with the gun manufactory together with all other papers, the United States Consul agrees to send to the Shan Hou Chui for inspection. After the guns and munitions reach Hong Kong and have been thoroughly inspected and taken delivery of by the Chinese Authorities, then the balance of the purchase money will be paid, so that they can convey them to Canton. The guns must be shipped to Hong Kong by the vessel taking freight at the very lowest rate. When the freight is settled the United States Consul will advise the Shan Hou Chui of the amount as per Bill of lading and they will pay the same on taking delivery of the guns etc. at Hong Kong.

2^d. The amounts as specified in the U.S. Consul letter are to be the real and actual cost of the guns, and no brokerage or other expenses are included either in the cost of the guns or freight, packing etc. Therefore to meet the expenses of the Consul's passage home and out to China, the outlay he has incurred in telegraphing for the plan of the guns and enquiring the prices etc. the sum of $3000 is paid to him - which amount he has received and his receipt given in English for the same which has been placed on record in the archives of the Shan Hou Chui

3rd If the size, weight and style of the guns

the guns, carriages, shells, etc. do not correspond with the plan, and if the guns have not been examined by the British Government officials and certified to as of good manufacture, it is agreed that they are to be returned by the Consul and the money refunded at a monthly rate of interest. In case the (Manufacturers) omit to furnish all of the small sundry articles the United States Consul agrees to see ^{that} the value of same is made good; if not, the amount will be deducted when final payment is made. It is agreed by the contracting parties that the sense expressed in the Chinese text of this contract shall be binding; and that the weights and dimensions shall be according to English calculation.

4th The guns to be purchased, are to be in Hongkong in 8 months from the date of this contract. The Chinese Authorities are to despatch a steamer to convey them to Canton. The expenses of transshipping and coolie hire are to be borne by the English steamer bringing the guns etc. out from England; this expense the Chinese Authorities are not to be called upon to pay.

Should the guns not arrive in ten months from the date of this agreement, the money is to be returned with

with interest. If the vessel conveying the guns is lost at sea, the consul agrees to recover the amount of insurance on the guns etc. from the underwriters, and a time will then be fixed for another purchase.

5th With reference to the payment of the 2nd installment of $\frac{1}{3}$ as specified above, it is agreed that at the expiration of three months from the date of this contract, a telegram will be sent (by the United States Consul) to the Shan Hou Chui and two weeks after its receipt the said office (Shan Hou Chui) will depute a Weiyuan in company with Interpreter Yui who will take the money to Hongkong and then buy, at one of the Banks, a telegraphic transfer to be immediately sent by wire to London. No delay will be allowed so as to prevent any complaints on the part of the manufacturers.

6th It is agreed that all the guns that are to be purchased under this contract, shall be examined by the British Government officials and that a certificate shall be obtained from them to effect that the guns are all of good manufacture; that they are perfectly smooth and well polished and that they are of new manufacture and entirely free from cracks and flaws. If the guns are found to be old ones, badly cast, cracked and defective the Chinese Government (Provincial Authorities) will not take them and the money paid on account with interest added must be refunded by the manufacturers.

7th It is agreed that a sum of about 30^g (not more than 40^g) will be allowed to defray the expenses of packing boxes and shipping (cart hire) from the gun manufactory to the steamer (which is to convey the guns etc. to China) as specified in the U.S. Consul's letter to the Chinese Authorities. This sum is allowed in addition to the amount to be paid for the guns etc. as stipulated, and to be calculated at exchange $5⁵² per £ sterling.

8th The guns shall be paid for according to the translated copy of the manufacturer's circular or price list. If there is any cheating or false charges made on the part of the deputed officers a fine of double the amount of the false charge will be imposed.

9th On reference to the manufacturer's circular it is stated therein that 90 pounds of powder are required to fire an 8 inch

an 8 inch gun and that the quantity is lessened in proportion to the size of the gun; but there is no mention made about the quantity of powder put into shells. The quantity supplied however must be the same as is customary at the manufacturer and whatever amount is furnished the same must be delivered as per invoice accompanying the guns.
10th Neither of the contracting parties are allowed to do, or, expect more than what is stipulated in this contract or agreement which is written in duplicate each party keeping a copy as proof.

Sealed with the Provincial Treasurer's official seal, the Chi Chi Chii (Canton Arsenal) official seal, and the official seal of the United States Consulate; also signed:—

Canton November 22nd 1879

To His Excellency Liu Viceroy of the Two Kwang Provinces Canton

Sir

I have the honor to inform Your Excellency that on yesterday I called on Messrs Chung and Chen, Shan Hsu Chii Weiyuan for the purpose of ascertaining whether certain reports which I had lately heard about Mr. Yui, Interpreter at this office, using the official seal (Chinese) without my knowledge were true or not. To my great surprise I found out that such was the case and I must now lay the matter before Your Excellency officially.

While I was at the Shan Hsu Chii yesterday, I saw an agreement made between the said office and ~~the~~ Consul Lincoln which was stamped (sealed) with two Chinese official seals and the Chinese official seal of this Consulate, on the 7th day of the 9th moon, - October 21st 1879. three days after I had taken over charge of this office.

Messrs. Chung and Chen informed me that Mr. Yui, the Interpreter, upon the 21st of October (9th moon, 7th day) brought to their office (Shan Hsu Chii) two papers (blank) and also the seal

the seal of this Consulate (official) — when the agreement was written by a Chinaman employed for the purpose by Mr Yui who, afterwards affixed the seal of this Consulate to it. I thoroughly examined the agreement and saw that it bore the signature of Mr Lincoln, unofficially, and dated October 15th 1879, — not the 21st, and I was informed by Wepetchung and Chen that Mr Lincoln had signed the papers (before they were filled up) on the 15th of October.

I must inform Your Excellency that I was wholly unaware of Mr Yui using the official seal of this Consulate on the 21st of October and did not believe he would dare commit so grave an offence; further that there is no record of the agreement in the archives of this Consulate.

I shall inform the Department of State at Washington and H. E. the United States Minister of Mr Yui's action.

I have the honor to request that Your Excellency will send me a reply to this despatch

I have the honor etc.
(signed) F. D. Cheshire U. S. Vice Consul in charge

Liu, Viceroy of the Two Kwang Provinces and with sends a communication in reply to the United States Acting Consul.

Upon the 23rd November the Viceroy received the Acting Consul's despatch N^o 839 (here quotes the despatch in full).

With reference to the question of the purchase of guns, during the 6th moon (Chinese) the Viceroy in conjunction with the Governor of Kwang Tung instructed the officers of the Shan Hsu Chii and the Chi Chi Chii to consult with Consul Lincoln about the matter and to request him to make some purchases for the Provincial Authorities.

As war materials are important articles (and the purchase of them) involves the expenditure of several tens of thousands of taels (the Chinese Authorities) as a matter of course could not but enter into a contract for same.

The price to be paid for the guns, and the terms and stipulations in the contract, were arranged and settled between the officers of the Shan Hsu Chii, Chi Chi Chii, Consul Lincoln and Interpreter Yui. The Viceroy would state, however, that, the officers of the said boards had not reported to him the date the payment of money was made to Consul Lincoln and the date the contract was drawn up and written.

As the matter of purchase of guns submitted

entrusted to Consul Lincoln to carry out, is an official one and a contract having been entered into, after Consul Lincoln handed over charge to the Acting Consul, it would seem to the Viceroy that, he could borrow the use of the seal of his own office, but he should certainly have informed the Acting Consul of it. The Chinese Authorities, however, are not fully aware whether the law of the United States permit this (the borrowing of official seals) or not, and if it does, whether it is necessary to make the fact known to the official the seal is borrowed from, and it is a question which it would not be convenient for the Chinese officials to enquire about, further as to who had charge of the official seal of the United States Consulate, and how the Interpreter could use it privately and without authority, this would be a question much more difficult for them to make enquiries about.

Again as to the signature in the contract, the Chinese officials only looked to see if there was one in English and they did not enquire whether it was an official one or a private one; this has always been the case when the Chinese Authorities have entered into agreement for the purchase of guns.

The Viceroy having received the Acting Consul's despatch, has instructed the Shan the Shan Hsu Shu and Shi Shi Shu to report to him all the circumstances in connection with the settlement of the price agreed upon to be paid for the guns the terms and stipulations in the contract the month and day and where it was written, and full particulars concerning the use of the consulate seal, now as in duty bound, send this communication in reply to the Acting United States Consul.

Sir

I have the honor to inform your Excellency that I have this day temporarily suspended Mr. Chen Shiang the Interpreter of this Consulate for having without my knowledge, used the Chinese official seal of this Consulate on the 7th day 9th moon, of the 5th year of Kwang Hui (October 21st 1879) at the office of Shan Hui Chui in sealing an agreement made by ^{my} Consul Lincoln for the purchase of guns for the Chinese Authorities which I knew nothing about.

The offence which Mr. Chen has committed is a very serious one and I shall communicate the matter to the Department of State and to the United States Minister at Peking and await their instructions as to further action to be taken.

I beg that your Excellency will inform your subordinates of my action and also beg that you will furnish me with a copy of the agreement and any letters Mr. Chen may have written on the subject.

I have the honor etc. etc.

(signed) F. D. Chesler

U. S. Vice Consul in charge

Lui, Viceroy of the two Kwang Provinces herewith sends a communication in reply to the United States Vice Consul in charge

Upon the 24th of November the Viceroy received the Acting Consul's despatch 1790846 (here quotes despatch in full)

The Viceroy would observe that, having at this time under consideration, the defenses on the coast of the Province of Kwang Tung, the purchase of guns is a matter of the greatest importance; hence the Shan Hou Lohii and the Lhi Lhi Lohii consulted with Consul Lincoln and requested him to make some purchases; a contract was written and sealed with the official seal of the United States Consulate.

Now having received the Acting Consul's communications, in reference to the Interpreter using the official seal of the United States Consulate (in sealing the agreement) without authority and of his suspension (temporarily), the Viceroy would state that, as the Interpreter held office under the United States Government, the Chinese Authorities (at Canton) were not in a position to know whether he had used the seal without authority or not, and as to the question whether he (the Interpreter) ought to be suspended (temporarily) or not is one which does not concern him (the Viceroy) But

as Liu Chen Chiang held the office of Interpreter (at the United States Consulate) and was on the staff at the time the matter of the purchase of the guns was arranged, and, as the first installment of money and the amount (of $3000) for expenses, were paid to Consul Lincoln through him, and as he has now been suspended (temporarily) and not knowing whether Consul Lincoln will return to his post or not, the Viceroy would therefore like to know whether a new contract ought to be entered into (between the Acting Consul and the Provincial Authorities) or whether the (old) original one (between Consul Lincoln) is to remain in force; in which case (the Chinese Authorities) would like to know if the Acting Consul will receive the 2nd installment of money and transmit the same (to England)

If it is not convenient for the United States Consulate to do this, then the 1st installment and the amount for expenses of passage money, etc. should be recovered by the Acting Consul. This matter of agreement is one which has been entrusted to the United States Consulate to execute and now as the Acting Consul has charge of the office as a matter of course he is in a position and has the power (is able) to undertake the management of it.

The Viceroy having received the Acting

Acting Consul's despatch, has instructed the Khan Hsu Chii and the Chii Chii Chii to forward to him a copy of the contract and copies of all the letters having relation thereto, which he will forward to the United States Consulate on receipt of same, now sends this communication in reply, requesting the acting Consul to send him a communication in reply answering all of the above questions With Compliments.

To His Excellency Lin Tsuoy of the two Kwang Provinces

Sir:

I have had the honor to receive Your Excellency's despatch of 27 instant in reference to the conflict between Mr. Consul Lincoler and the Shan Koukshio and the Shi Shi Shi for the purchase of guns, the contents of which I have duly perused.

I beg to inform Your Excellency that I cannot take any action in the premises until I hear from my superior officers.

I have the honor etc.

Mr Lincoln to H. E. the Viceroy. a note Received 15th October 1879.

I beg to inform Your Excellency that Mr Shih, expectant Taotai called at my office this morning and informed me that the Provincial Treasurer had written to him to have added in the contract some additional items which request I complied with.

As I intend to leave Canton tomorrow morning my time here is limited so I feel bound to yield to the request in order to remove any suspicions the officers of the Shan Hsu Chui and Chi Chi Chui might have.

As to Your Excellency's present of $3000 for my passage money, and for which I am obliged for, the Provincial Treasurer stated in his note that it was only necessary for me to give a receipt for the amount in English and that there was no need to write an official despatch acknowledging receipt for same. In compliance with said request I now send a receipt for the money which I beg Your Excellency will forward to the Shan Hsu Chui, at the same time, also beg that Your Excellency will instruct the said office to send the money (1st installment) as per stipulation.

speculations in contract: to me at once so that I may receipt for same with my stamp. I hope that Your Excellency will instruct the officers of the Shan Hwa Lshu not to be too particular in the matter of this contract so that I may not be prevented from carrying out Your commission.

Mr Lincoln to H. E. the Viceroy & note

Received October 16th 1879

I beg to inform Your Excellency that last evening after dark the Interpreter returned to my office in company with a Wuyuan from the Shan Hsin Chai who brought the sum of $3000 to pay my passage both ways (home and out to China) in connection with the purchase of the guns. The said officer informed me that he had been instructed by the Provincial Treasurer to say that with reference to the stipulations in the contract that the guns were to be paid for in three installments, the first and second would be paid as stated or agreed upon, but it would be necessary to wait until the guns had arrived (in China) before paying the balance of the purchase money (3rd installment). As to the order of payments Your Excellency is aware of my views on this point as I instructed the Interpreter some time ago to petition Your Excellency and to ^{write} thoroughly explain the matter.

Now when the Provincial Treasurer again bringing up this difficult question I very ^{much} regret that I cannot discuss it with him on account of being very much pressed for time

Yours

Your Excellency having entrusted me with the execution of this commission, although I receive very little benefit from it, yet I may say that I cannot express my gratitude to you all the same. It is not that I do not desire to exert myself to meet the wishes of all the officials concerned in the matter, but it is the established rule of the gun manufacturers that payment must be made in the order and time stated or proposed. The manufacturers circular has been returned to me and Your Excellency can see it at any time. The proposition is not my own.

As to the Provincial Treasurer's remarks that formerly guns were purchased and paid for after their arrival, he does not seem to consider that purchases made under those conditions were executed by merchants who made advances for the Chinese and when the guns (purchased) were taken delivery of they were paid for with interest added; this gave the merchants a profit which was gratifying to them. The present case is different; I have merely undertaken (the execution of the commission), under obligations to Your Excellency and my means are not sufficient to make advances; further I could not do so (if I wished to) on account of the gun manufactory being in England.

Having reached the present moment (on my eve of departure) I would certainly do all in my power to comply (with the Provincial Treasurer's request) if it was not an extremely difficult one to be carried out, (but I cannot) hence there is no alternative but to adhere to the contract as formerly drafted which is in order. It can be stipulated in the contract however, that, when I arrive in England I will undertake to do what I can to induce the gun manufacturers to agree to this mode of payment and if they do so, well and good for both parties, but if they refuse to fill the order under those conditions then payment (of third installment) must be made as stipulation in contract (in the draft); thus I can carry out Your Excellency's commission.

My name is given on a separate paper.

Postscript

I am very grateful to Your Excellency for the confidence thus reposed in me, in entrusting this affair to my care, which has not only impressed me so that I shall not forget your kindness

kindness, I must say that I cannot express my thanks.

As I cannot stop here any longer I may mention that I have explained to the Interpreter what articles I can, and what articles I cannot, agree to, besides I have given him blank papers duly signed and sealed for the contract if settled to be written on, and if all the articles proposed by the Shan Hou Chii and Chii Chii Chii are such that I can carry out, to settle the matter for me. If the contract is agreed upon and settled I beg that Your Excellency will issue instructions to have the money (1st installment) handed to the Interpreter to bring same to Hong Kong as the steamer (I am to leave by, sails on either 4th or 5th 18th or 19th of October).

I also hope that Your Excellency will instruct the officers of the Shan Hou Chii to be more liberal in their views in this matter in order that I may do myself the honor of executing the order.

Good bye.

Copy of letters sent to Mr Shan Kou Chiu from Yee Chin Chiang.

Being too late to send the money to Hongkong through a bank here it is necessary for me to take it down myself, therefore I beg that you will depute an officer with some soldiers taking the same to the steamer "Porwan" where I was to receive it.

I have to acknowledge the receipt of the boxes of silver as forwarded.

I beg to inform you that I returned from Hongkong yesterday and am sorry that I have not (as yet) paid you a visit. I send you herewith the boxes - eleven in all - which the money was packed in and the books belonging to same; also take 76.⁴/₁₀ of local silver which I hope you will exchange for good silver and send same to ^{me} by my servant.

I beg to inform you that I called to pay my respects on the Faring yesterday and tendered His Excellency Mr. Finckh's receipt for the money, but H.E. told me to take to your office Shan Kou Chiu - and in compliance with his wishes I now send it hoping you will receive it.

Sir

I have had the honor to receive your dispatch of 15th inst. and inclosing copies of correspondence from Acting Vice Consul, Cheshier, at present in charge of the U.S. Con-sulate at Canton, and also to the temporary suspension of the Interpreter at that Consulate on a charge of having with out authority affixed the Chinese Consular seal, to an agreement entered into between the Chinese Provincial Authorities at that at that point and myself for the purchase of a quantity of ordnance.

In answer to your request I have the honor to make the following statements regarding the matter.

Soon after my arrival in China we learned that through the influence of my consular colleagues the purchase of vessels of war, ordnance, small arms &c had been made by or through them for the Chinese authorities.
This I requested, & the Viceroy to apply to me when he contemplated making such purchases, stating I understood he had never indicated the execution of such orders to Americans & that the production of such articles in the U.S. was considered conditions equal if not superior to those of other countries.

On learning of my intended departure for the U.S. he referred to our former conversation and requested me to telegraph for price lists of the strong inducement as he desired the price list from the manufacturer and was unable to procure them without the assistance of a foreigner. I complied with his request receiving the price list a few days prior to my departure.

On examination of the prices given I observed they were at least 30% less than had been paid for purchases made through others and requested me to execute my order amounting to about £18,000 while in London he could have and proposed submitting the funds for full amount, to my care. I promised to execute the order provided I had the sanction of the Department to do so. I also advised him that I did not expect any commission or remuneration for my service, and that half of the amount the order was required as first payment.

 Some of the other Consul's on hearing of the intended purchase, applied for the order and secured the influence of some of the subordinate Chinese officials to aid them. The Viceroys Liou and Kwei and his Delegation to extract the order & full amount of purchase purchase money to me. His subordinates objected unless I would make a written agreement. This I consented to do at the special request of the Treasury, with the clear understanding that, though it was an unofficial matter I could not execute the order without first obtaining the order of the State Department, failing to obtain this I was to hand for the order to a member of a banking firm, resident in London.

On reaching London & finding that to visit this U.S. to secure the Department's approval, & return would interfere with the business necessitating my requesting leave of absence, I transferred to the party mentioned the order with agreement.

agreements and funds &c. &c. have been handed by him Sir William. even though for $5,086.26 that I might forward to the Treasury & take up my receipts for that amount as stated by Mr Christie the agreement was signed but officially and in blank

A rough draft of the agreement (in Chinese) was submitted to me on the evening of the 15th Oct.

As I was to leave Canton on the morning of the 16th I signed a statement the agreement was blank that the rough draft agreed on might be written over my signature and forwarded by mail if not prepared in time to reach me before sailing from Hong Kong.

W. H. P.

It being clear & understood to be an unofficial transaction, the agreement was signed, unofficially (Nov³ Lincoln 15th Decr 1849) The Chinese seal, of the was not affixed, either in my presence or by my direction. Why, then, the Interpreter should have affixed it, I do not understand unless induced, by the Viceroys to do so to quiet the clamor of some of his subordinates, who complained, and were jealous of the Viceroys' intimacy and friendship with a confidence in me, and particularly shown in entrusting me with so large a sum of money without security.

The view of all the facts and my personal testimony knowledge of the peculiarities of the Chinese character and their dealings in such matters. I would request that if the Interpreter be not at once reinstated in his temporary suspension be left in charge until my return, until gathered reports on the subject.

On applying for leave of absence I requested the the Legation & Consul General to approve my nomination of Mr. W. B. Cunningham as acting Vice Consul in charge during my temporary absence.

The Minister & Consul General being personally acquainted with Mr. Cummingsham & holding him in high esteem, & anticipated their approval & introduced him to His Excellency

Excellent of the Viceroys as the one to be left in charge.

The British Consul, appeared but the Minister declined on the ground that he was engaged in business & was not in our Consular Service and suggested the name of Mr. Cheshire.

Although not personally acquainted with him I accepted the Minister's suggestion and communicated with Mr. Cheshire, at once, requesting him to accept my proposition, by wire, which he did, responding me in strong terms on the eve of my departure.

The matter of agreement between myself & Viceroy being unofficial & in domestic interest, Mr. Cheshire I made no mention of it to him. I am now fully persuaded that his actions on the premises is quite unreasonable

he has attempted to

Mayor & other Wahing Officials, by telling them that the money entrusted to my care was unsafe & urging them to pay the 2nd installment into his, Mr. Chesters, hands that it might be secure.

Knowing as I do, his action is prompted solely by animosity and a hope to promote his own interests by injuring me.
I desire to withdraw my consent to his continuing during my temporary absenresponsible for the acts of one who without cause seems so ready to involve me in trouble with the State Department, my constituents there, & the Chinese officials, with whom I have been on in-

In view of these facts I respectfully request the Department to direct Consul General to Williams of Suatow to assume temporary charge of the Consulate, until my return & resumption of my official duties.

Regarding the $3000. referred to, I have

1. Review of the Canton Lark Trade as above

Review of the Canton Silk Trade for the season 1879 and 1880

The season which is about closing is in many respects an interesting one in the annals of the silk trade.

Unlike most other articles of produce the rise in value has been very small and it would seem that manufacturers taught by the disastrous lessons of the speculative movement in 1876, have carefully studied the wants of consumption and have thus escaped the enormous losses which must have resulted had they followed the abortive attempts at speculation which occasionally manifested themselves in the principal European and American markets.

During the season under review the silk trade of Canton has been a most active one and prices for the article have fluctuated in sympathy with the changing markets which have ruled in London, or

the Continent and in America.

Business commenced here at the end of May last and early purchases were made on a basis of $38.00 @ $38.50 per fœcul for No 4 Haden. Unfortunately news arrived most inopportunistically of the very severe weather prevailing in Europe and that much anxiety was expressed as to the outcome of the Italian and French crops, which had the effect of at once exciting the market here and prices advanced $100. per fœcul within a fortnight. Subsequent news advised a falling off in the demand at home and by the middle of June a decline of $50. per fœcul from the highest point had been established; since then business has been of a spasmodic nature and prices have been regulated by the fitful surts which have from time to time taken place on the other side. The lowest point touched here was in the month of October when prices were on a level with those ruling at the opening of the market.

With

With reference particularly to Re-milled silk for the American market the most striking feature is the largely increasing export as will be shown by the figures below. The demand has, for the greater part, been upon Thread of middling and common grades. While fine and finest qualities have been comparatively neglected. What used to be known as "Re-milled Cotingone" is now out of fashion and even finest bucklow has only been wanted in limited quantity. To supply the increased demand for bumchuck and bucklow silks the nations have had recourse to making slatters which appear to serve the purpose of other distinct silks — although the true bumchuck ~~and~~ bucklow is preferable when obtainable.

It may be interesting to point out a few of the features in the silk trade during the season under review which have differed materially from those of preceding seasons.

Consumption. Fashion has throughout the year ruled in favour of much —

silk and woollen goods, so that fortunately in a year of ascertained dearth, the actual requirements of European manufacturers have been sufficiently fed with the larger export from the East, which producers were stimulated to produce with the very reasonable hope of obtaining good prices. To producers and dealers however, it is feared loss must have accrued for the prices which were hoped for when the excitement incident on the failure of the European crops was known, must have induced them to base their operations on prices which were never afterwards attained.

European Export. Up to date the export has been about 12,100 bales against previous season 9,140 " showing an increase of about 25%. It is said that 700 @ 1,000 bales are engaged to go forward, if wanted, before the season closes about six weeks hence.

American Export. Nearly 9,000 bales have been shipped against 5,800 bales in 1878 and 1879 and 3800 boms in 1877 and 1878. It is probable that, at least, 1000 boms will be available for export during the remainder of the present season. Manufactures of silk in America would thus appear to have developed with great rapidity, but I have no statistics at hand to prove this statement.

Conditions of the silk. - Has been bad throughout. It is so thoroughly damped in the districts where it is prepared that the Canton dealers would lose considerably if it were properly dried. The consequence is that much silk has been damp packed this season and heavy losses in weight must have occurred in consequence, not to mention the losses from deterioration and mildew which very frequently are made on silk packed in this manner.

Prices: silk. - There has been a brisk demand throughout the season and it has constantly advanced in a much greater ratio than the coarse spun thread. The facilities which which machinery now affords for preparing such silk and spinning it then cleaned into an inferior thread extremely useful for the manufacture of mixed goods, etc. the main account for the maintained demand for this silk throughout the year. Export 8,343 bales against 7,393 bales in 1878/1879 and 5,064 bales in 1877/1878.

For Hon. Mr. Evarts

Washington D.C.

In response to your verbal request for further explanation regarding agreement for purchase of Ordnance for Chinese Armaments at Canton, I have the honor to make the following supplementary statement—

The agreement was not considered either by the Authorities or myself as an official one notwithstanding the subsequent statements of H. O. the Viceroy and the attempt of Mr. Cheukie to make it so appear in his translation of the agreement.

This is conclusively shown by the following facts.

1st—All the correspondence had on the subject between the Viceroy and myself was by personal or private notes in Chinese—while if Official, it would have been in both English and Chinese and in Official forms (not notes) An if record also would have been made in the Consulate -

2nd - The contract as stated by Mr. Cheshire was signed unofficially (C. D. Lincoln, 15th Sept, 1879)

3rd - The receipts for moneys entrusted to my care in connection with the matter, were simply personal receipts, signed unofficially - If it had been considered by the Authorities as an official transaction they would have been prepared in requesting me to follow the forms and practice with which they are so familiar in all official matters between the Consulate and themselves -

4th - The Murray says in his narrative Mr. Cheshire No 839 - p. 5: "Again unto the signature in the Contract the Officials did only scathe to see if there was one in English and did not enquire whether it was an official one or private one"

5th - If they considered it an official matter they would have been as I know from long experience, most particular that the agreement be officially signed and sealed

6th - If Official, the Authorities would have discussed the matter with Mr. Cheshire on that his arrival (is & acts) but on the contrary no mention of it is made by them — until Mr. Chisholm is informed as he says, by a Chinese Official, and then more the numerous Chinese Official making enquiries regarding it and sees as he thinks, an opportunity of promoting his own interests by informing mine. — The following extract from a letter recently received, and from a gentleman long a resident of Canton bears on the point:

"It was quite evident from the fact that
 "Chisholm had determined on suspending
 "the Interpreter for some reason & I greatly "thought himself lucky in finding so good "a one and so spending an opportunity "of serving himself by calling on the "Chinese and other Official he could "drag into the business — for days the "foreign Settlement was quite gay with "calls by Mandarins of different ranks "with & without gongs and drums and "all quite glad the foreign point is "part — Happier is at the bottom of all "this — he and Chisholm are as sick as "themselves" — Happier is a missionary who "at one time I had before me for con"sulting with the British in without submitting "this in communication to the Consul as provided by Consular Regulations. His letter was in the handwriting of a man who had been imprisoned by the Authorities - and he convinced the idea in their that he was other the interpreter of the US Consulate, a position he was filled some years since. He consequence of my action he has no say in it. For me although he joined in signing a unanimous request of the American residents there that I be retained at Consul at Shanghai - "Cheshire said the " thing he had better not pay the 2nd " installment to me & get something " suggested to the Treasury mind, that he " had no security for his 80,000$ - This " is a new light it seems to me, to be " leading up a business in before the " Chinese officials - What it all arises " from, I put down to it - an " desire on Cheshire's part to squeeze out " to the fact he has troubled with 9th

" 2nd to happen natural result - "

The agreement in Chinese as signed was read to me in Hong Kong a few moments prior my departure and I left it with an American gentleman there to translate and forward to me. I received it it in London: it is the first copy in English I had seen - The following is a true copy of same and when compared with the forced & erroneous translation made and submitted by Mr. Chuan I will not appear to have that officious correction sought to be shown in the other. It will be observed that in my instance, I am referred to as Mr. Lincoln and not as "The United States Consul" - I also deem to call your attention to the difference in the phraseology of paragraph 2 - other translations -

"Memo of translation of Contract entered into between the Chinese Authorities of Canton and Mr. C. P. Lincoln - (Consul for the United States) at same port, —

The Authorities agree to pay one third (1/3) of the amount of money for the purchase of a quantity of Gunpowder in England at the rate of dollars five and cents fifty (50¢) per one pound sterling (say (£1)) and hand it over to Mr. Lincoln so that he in turn may hand it over to the Ammunition Manufacturing Co. against the purchase of and delivery of such gunpowder as described in the plates submitted by him and approved on the part of the Authorities - Mr Lincoln will obtain from the said Manufacturers a receipt in the form referred to above in which they bind themselves to complete the Contract entered into with Mr Lincoln in the season of the year & within the time specified.

The second installment or second third of the Contract money, will be made to be paid by the Authorities into a Bank in Washington to the Credit of Mr Lincoln upon the receipt of a telegram from him in England of the expiration of three (3) months from the date of the Contract with the Manufacturers & Mr Lincoln will satisfy himself that the work is progressing satisfactorily and only pay the money provided such is the case.

In the event of the Authorities - Manufacturers, Co. refusing to accept the order, Mr Lincoln will return the first third already paid to him by the Revenue Office.

Mr Lincoln will bear in mind to obtain full receipts for all payments made by him to the Armstrong Manufactory Co. and send same in due course to the Revenue Office. It is also understood that

that we cannot, such as packing and - the percentage of cost as set forth in a separate memo.

Mr Lincoln will notify the Inspector of what amount is necessary to insure the goods against loss at sea, whilst en route by steamer to China, when the amount will be paid by the Revenue Office into the Bank to the Credit of Mr Lincoln.

All vouchers and papers (in duplicate) in connection with the purchase and shipping

And to enable Mr. Lincoln to meet such expenses as are rendered necessary in arranging the various preliminary matters in connection with the making of the Contract and for the time to be devoted in looking after the business the Revenue Office agrees to tender him a sum of three thousand (3000) dollars, in which are included cash of telegrams and printed catalogs. Price List &c already submitted by Mr. Lincoln and he has already received the amount in full for which this Office holds his receipt.

It is agreed that the goods are to be of the same style & pattern and size as mentioned in the List submitted by Mr. Lincoln and approved of by the authorities. The goods which he ordered must be returned and the money already paid for.

authorities in China, is the correct one, and any dispute or misunderstanding arising between the contracting parties is to be adjusted in accordance therewith.

With regard to the weight and measurement of the goods, it is distinctly understood that English terms only are to be used.

The goods are to be delivered at Hong Kong within eight (8) months from the date of this contract or agreement. Upon arrival of the goods at Hong Kong the Chinese Government will send a steamer to that port for the purpose of taking delivery

The following is the clause referred to in the foregoing

To facilitate the calculation of the currency of the respective countries, the exchange is fixed at 50 $\frac{1}{2}$ Mexican per One pound (£1) sterling at which all payments are to be made by the Office (Revenue)

The prices named in the agreement are those given in the price list and are correctly translated by the Office and sentry with no view of making any profit for themselves

It is also understood that each charge of powder for the 8 in gun is to contain 90 lbs English & those for the 12 in gun to contain a proportionate quantity

" quantity. The regular quantity of powder for loading pieces not being mentioned in the Letter Mr Lincoln will hand over to the Chinese such amount as he receives from the manufacturers.
 The agreement is made in duplicate and no claim for payment is stated herein can be entertained Made at Canton 5th October 1879 "

That the Treasury should say in his letter to Mr Chisholm "The matter of the purchase of guns was official" is not at all strange.
 Harding as he did, an agreement signed unofficially and only personal receipts for so large a sum of money and being informed as he was by Mr Chisholm, that an offence had been committed by the Duties paid in affixing the seal.
 That I probably would not suppose he was at once led to believe the money entrusted to my care was insecure, so much was he impressed with the idea that he request the acting Com. to aid him in recovering - If Mr Chisholm had informed him as he should have done, that the money entrusted to me was perfectly safe & would be devoted to

to the purpose for which it was intended no question of the official or un-official character of the agreement had been raised.

I am pleased to be able to inform you that notwithstanding Mr. Chen's efforts to create distrust in the treaty mind, H. E. has become satisfied of the falsity of his insinuations and has caused the second statement to be forwarded as per agreement to the manufacturers.

Regarding the two notes or un-official letters from me to the treaty & translations of which accompany Mr. Cheshire's translation of agreement I have the honor to say they were written by the Interpreter in Chinese at my request it being an un-official matter and therefore not requiring the care & personal attention given me that they otherwise would have received - I merely giving verbally the substance of what I desired to say and left the Interpreter to express it in his own language - The first one was written late in the evening of 10th inst. the other on the morning of the 10th after I had left for Hong Kong. The first one refers to the "80000" ^{Regulation}

Regarding this I desire to say that not one word was passed between the American and myself relative to the payment of it or any other amount of money for expense. That the offer was entirely voluntary on their part & the first intimation made to me on the subject was late on the evening of 15th Oct. when the piece sent over the amount with word that he wanted me to use it for defraying any necessary expenses connected with the purchase &c - If Mr. Christie had been at all desirous of doing me justice he could easily have procured ^a copy of my receipt which was in English & showed plainly the purpose for which the money was to be used - but he can hardly be blamed with waiting and forwarding a forced translation of a note in Chinese the phraseology & grammar of which was as correct as the Interpreter could make from memory of my verbal statement of the substance of what I desired & to say - These remarks are equally applicable to the letter of 16th Oct. In the second (2nd) line of 2nd page of first letter (15th Oct.) It is made to read "That I may receipt for same money" ^{my} my stamp" conveying the erroneous impression, that a seal was also used.

This is explained by the fact that the Chinese never sign any document of any kind - but stamp it with a stamp bearing the Character representing their names, and when using the word sign in any communication they use the Character meaning stamp -

My action in transferring the agreement of the business to a British subject in London and the further facts as above stated, that none of the correspondence relating to the business was official, the agreement being signed unofficially, no record of it being made in the Consulate, no mention of it being made by me to Mr. Chisholm and none by the authorities & hence it might be said I made enquiries & prefer charges & explain, show that it was not considered by either the authorities or myself as an official transaction.

The Murray letter to Mr. Chisholm shows that the authorities sought and requested me to aid them and from ^{the} letter of 16th Oct. to the Murray it will be seen I consented to do so merely to oblige him -

I desire to say further that in the days of my arrival in Washington. (7th Jan^y last) I brought this matter to the notice of the Department & being the first intimation had by the Department of the existence of such agreement.

A few days after this the Hon^{ble} Third Asst Secretary of State placed me in possession of copies of Mr. Chekin's first despatch and memoirs on the subject ^{and} requested me to explain in writing, which I did at considerable length -

In this explanation I stated that it the Treasury desired me to procure for their samples & drawings pieces like of Japanese iron do not have same ~~which is not~~ of American manufacture, which I had promised to do provided I had the sanction of the Department - and requested the same which request the Treasury understood -

In conclusion I will say that my relations both Official & private with the Wharves of the Country to which I am accredited being of a most friendly and satisfactory nature I was prompted to take the action I did in this matter solely with a view of rendering any and all proper assistance assistance to these officials, confidently believing such action would meet the approval of the great Government.

Sir,

I have the honor to send the Department an enclosure No 1, a copy of a communication which I received from His Excellency the Viceroy of Canton upon the subject of Mr. Consul himself's contract for the purchase of arms and a copy of my reply to same in which I had intended to have forwarded by an earlier mail but inadvertently omitted to do so.

I also enclose, an enclosure No 2, a copy of a communication which I addressed to His Excellency the Acting Viceroy on the 24th of January last (per suggestion of Mr. Minister Howard), upon the same subject.

I have had no further communications with the Provincial Authorities about this business.

I may mention that it is rumoured here that the Provincial Authorities have have sent forward by telegraphic transfer the second installment of money direct to Sir William Armstrong and Co. London.

upon same subject

Lui Viceroy of the Two Kwangs herewith sends a communication to the United States Vice Consul in charge.

Upon the 11th day of the 10th moon of the 5th year of Kwang Hsi (November 24th 1879) the Viceroy received the Acting Consul's despatch as follows:-

"I have the honor to inform Your Excellency that I have this day - temporarily suspended Yui Chen Chiang the Interpreter of this Consulate for having without my knowledge used the Chinese official seal of this - Consulate on the 7th day 9th moon of the 5th year of Kwang Hsi - (October 21st 1879) at the office of Shan Hsu Chii in sealing an agreement made by Mr Consul Lincoln for the purchase of guns for the Chinese Authorities which I knew nothing about. The offence which Mr Yui has committed is a very serious one and I shall communicate the matter to the Department of State and the United States Minister at Peking and await their instructions as to further action to be taken. I beg that Your Excellency will inform your subordinates of my action and also beg that you will furnish me with a copy of the agreement"

and any letters Mr Yui may have written on the subject."

The Viceroy replied to above despatch stating that, having under consideration the defences on the coast of the Province of Kwang Tung, the purchase of guns is a matter of the greatest importance; hence the Shan Hsu bhii and the Chi bhii bhii consulted with Consul Lincoln and requested him to make some purchases; a contract was written and sealed with the official seal of the United States Consulate.

Now having received the Acting Consul's communications, in reference to the Interpreter using the official seal of the United States Consulate (in sealing the agreement) without authority and of his suspension (temporarily) the Viceroy would state that, as the Interpreter held office under the United States Government the Chinese Authorities (at Canton) were not in a position to know whether he had used the seal without authority or not and, as to the question whether he (the Interpreter) ought to be suspended (temporarily) or not is one which does not concern him (the Viceroy). But as Yui Chen bhiiang held the office of Interpreter (at the United States Consulate) and was on the

the staff at the time the matter of the purchase of the guns was arranged, and, as the first installment of money and the amount (of $3000) for expenses were paid to Consul Lincoln through him, and as he has now been suspended (temporarily) and not knowing whether Consul Lincoln will return to his post or not, the Viceroy would therefore like to know whether a new contract ought to be entered into between the Acting Consul and the Provincial Authorities, or, whether the (old) original one (between Consul Lincoln) is to remain in force; in which case (the Chinese Authorities would like to know if the Acting Consul will receive the 2nd installment of money and transmit the same (to England))

If it is not convenient for the United States Consulate to do this, then the 1st installment and the amount for expenses of passage money etc. should be recovered by the Acting Consul. This matter of agreement is one which has been entrusted to the United States Consulate to execute and now, as the Acting Consul has charge of the office, as a matter of course he is in a position and has the power (is able) to undertake the management of it.

The Viceroy

The Viceroy having received the Acting Consul's despatch, has instructed the Shan Hsu bhii and the bhi bhi bhii to forward to him a copy of the contract and copies of all the letters - having relation thereto, which he will forward to the United States Consulate in receipt of same, now sends this communication in reply, requesting the Acting Consul to send him a communication in reply answering all of the above questions.

(The Acting Consul replied as follows:-)

"I have had the honor to receive Your Excellency's despatch of 27th instant in reference to the contract between Consul Lincoln and the Shan Hsu bhii and bhi bhi bhii for the purchase of guns, the contents of which I have duly perused."

"I beg to inform Your Excellency that I cannot take any action in the premises until I hear from my superior officers."

Now many weeks have elapsed without hearing from the Acting Consul and the Viceroy does not know whether he has received instructions from the United States Minister or not as to what action he is to take in the premises. The time is not far distant when the 2nd installment is

is to be paid, and if it is not paid at the proper time, the Viceroy is afraid that Mr Consul Lincoln will charge him with not having carried out the provisions of the contract, and according to foreign customs interest will have to be paid if the money is not paid at the proper period; further (if the contract is not carried out faithfully) he is also afraid that it will not look well and will give rise to complaint. If the Chinese officers should wish to pay the 2nd installment at the proper time there will be no one to receive it as the Interpreter has been degraded (temporarily suspended) and the Acting Consul declined to receive it. Besides the Acting Consul informed him (the Viceroy) and the United States Minister the Tsungli Yamen, that the laws of the United States does not permit consuls and other officials to purchase guns, hence the position of affairs have materially changed since the contract was signed, and the 1st installment of money paid, at which time the Provincial Authorities were acting in ignorance. Therefore as to the payment of the 2nd installment it should rest with the decision of the United States Minister and the Acting

Acting Consul and it would not be convenient for the Chinese Authorities to act without advice. But the object of entrusting Mr Lincoln with the purchase of munitions, which are important articles for local wants, was to cement friendly relations; all the circumstances the Acting Consul is fully aware. The Acting Consul has now the charge of the consulate, hence the (unfinished) business of the predecessor is that of the successor.

The Acting Consul understanding fully all the circumstances, will certainly have a feasible plan to meet all the requirements of the case so as to avoid the Provincial Authorities getting into difficulty, and as in duty bound, the Viceroy sends this communication hoping that he will consider the case well and send an answer with all promptitude, in order that he (the Viceroy) may send instructions to the Shan Hsu Chii to act accordingly.

Canton March 12th 1880

Hon. Charles Fayson

Third Assistant Secretary of State

Washington D.C.

Sir,

In my despatch No 95 to the Department, I remarked that His Excellency Mr. Tsiroy (at an interview I had with him) showed me a despatch which was written in the handwriting of Hui Chin Chiang, the Interpreter, about a Chinese case and that there was no record of it in the archives of the consulate etc. I omitted to state that the despatch was about a claim of four hundred taels alleged by the Interpreter to be owing him by by certain Chinese.

I now have to inform the Department that, I have seen other despatches written in English and Chinese (the English version in the handwriting of the Interpreter and signed by Mr. Lincoln) at the San Kai Magistrate's office, about the same case and that, I cannot find any record of them in the register of correspondence sent, or, in the Consular letter book; and, as there are many reports current among the natives about the unjust and illegal action of the Interpreter towards a certain Chinaman named Loo Ahong, who was imprisoned at his instance, in the name of this Consulate consulate, and who had his son house attached, and suffered to the extent of some seven hundred taels, and as, Mr. (Lin Shing) has requested me to render him what assistance I can to redress his grievances, I have, with a view of ascertaining the true nature of the case, I addressed a communication to His Excellency the Acting Viceroy, requesting him to furnish me with copies of all the correspondence having relation to it.

I may say that, although the communications alluded to are signed "C. P. Lincoln U. S. Consul" the signature

of Mr. Lincoln may have been forged by the Interpreter.

It would appear to me that, if Mr. Hui Shün Shiang had a claim owing him by a Chinese subject which he wanted to collect, the proper course to pursue would have been for him to have petitioned the Chinese Authorities according to Chinese usage and custom.

He is a Chinese subject and it does not seem to me that, from the fact of his holding an office in this Consulate, it accrued to him, under the Treaty, the right to present claims that might be owing him by Chinese, to the Native Authorities through

His office.

I have the honor to state in explanation of the expenditure on per Voucher No 3 and 4 on account of the very dilapidated condition of the various Record Books of the Consular Agency and to preserve the books as long as possible, I have had to put sundry repairs on the binding, and for their future better preservation, I have had a wooden case made with partitions in which the Record Books are now kept. Mr Consul Henderson of Amoy having removed from this office all the Government furniture when the Consulate was abolished and the Record books since that time have had no proper book case.

Truly Sir

Honorable Charles Payson

I have the honor to enclose herewith an account in duplicate for salary paid by me to Mr. Twei Yuen, a young Chinese, who I employed on the 1st of December last to temporarily fill the place of Hui Shun Shiang who was suspended on the 24th of November 1879, for surreptitiously using the official seal of this Consulate.

I would inform the Department that the work of this Consulate

Consulate, especially in the Chinese department, had so accumulated that, I found it impossible to attend to the current business of the office and keep the records in proper order without assistance, and in consequence I engaged the services of Mr. Kwai Yen, for five days a week, at the rate of twenty dollars per month, to assist me in writing up the record books and translating official correspondence received from the Chinese authorities, under my supervision.

I truly say that Mr. Kwai Yen has rendered very efficient efficient services and has in every way performed the same duties as were discharged by Chi Chin Chiang before his suspension, with the exception of interpreting and translating official despatches sent by me to the Chinese authorities, which I have done myself.

For the amount paid by me to Mr. Kwai Yee, from the 1st of December to the 31st of March ultimo, - eighty dollars, - I have the honor to inform the Department that, I have this day drawn my draft, at fifteen days sight, on the Honorable Secretary of the Treasury, favor of the Hongkong and Shanghai for twenty four ⁴⁰/₁₀₀ dollars

I trust that, in view of the circumstances, the

Mr. Kwai Yen and that the account will be passed.

I would inform the

Sir

Referring to Mr Threshire's despatches Nos 92 and 106 to the Department, relative to a letter or letters having been shown him regarding a claim of Mr Yui to being the Interpreter against a native of China copy of which letters could not be found in the Consular Records, I have the honor to say that the case referred to was one wherein a Native

nature was understood to the Interpreter in the case of ~~no~~ ~~no~~ ~~no~~ and that my action in the matter was well understood by H. E. the Viceroy to be unofficial or semi official at most, and in fact, at his, the Viceroy's, suggestion, that the Interpreter might be relieved of the necessity of appearing and going through the forms necessary in a Chinese court - which he would be compelled to do being a native, though an United States official, if he presented a petition requesting the Authorities to take action in the matter.

I will say further, that before rendering the Interpreter any assistance in this case, I was assured

of the justice of the claim by the late Dr. Wang, who was a man of well known integrity and ability, a graduate of the Edinburgh Medical College and a practicing physician among the foreigners at this port.

I was also subsequently shown by the Viceroy a statement of the debtor acknowledging the indebtedness but claiming inability to pay.

During about four years I wrote I dare say, five or six letters for the Interpreter on this subject, the debtor finally agreed to pay down one half the amount and the balance sometime in the future, and sent his his son with seven hundred Taels to Canton to make payment when the party (Lum Shing) refused to by Mr Cheuk in his 92106, induced the son to deposit the money with him, promising to effect a settlement with the Interpreter and that if he could effect the same for less than the amount deposited, he (Lum Shing) should retain the balance.

On learning this, the Viceroy expressed great indignation and directed the Namhoi Magistrate to cause the arrest of Lum Shing, and asked me to write to the Magistrate to same effect. As result, Lum Shing was required to pay over the amount less a small sum

sum previously returned by him to the party from whom he received the money.

Certainly no blame can attach to the Interpreter in this matter, and while I am well aware — that it is outside of a Consul's province to interfere in cases arising between Natives — I was then, as I am now, fully persuaded that my action in the premises for for the purpose indicated, was proper and in accordance with what was best under the circumstances.

8th May.

I have the pleasure to chronicle an event of general interest to Foreigners and Chinese alike and of such exceptional rarity as is afforded by the arrival of a Royal Prince in whom is united the blood of two of the greatest of the reigning Sovereigns of Europe. Prince Heinrich may well rank as Imperial Highness, as Grandson of both the Emperor of Germany and of the Sovereign of Britain and its dependencies; and soon after his arrival, by the night boat, the chief Chinese Authorities, including the Vice-Roy, the Tartar General and the Hoppo, evinced their sense of the honor of the visit of a personage of such exalted lineage by calling, at about ten o'clock, at the residence of the German Consul Mr. Travers to pay their respects; a call that His Imperial Highness purposes to return during the afternoon.

In the meantime the several Consular Representatives of the other Foreign Powers had assembled at the Consulate of the United States preparatory to calling in a body at the German Consulate to pay their respects to the Prince; Mr. Lincoln as Senior Consul being selected to present his Colleagues to His Imperial Highness, after his own presentation by the German Consul: When, as I learn, Mr. Lincoln expressed the gratification afforded the Consular body by the visit of H. I. Highness, and their desire, as representing the Foreign community, to extend a cordial welcome to him to Canton, with the hope that his tour in the East would prove as pleasing as his anticipations of it; and then proceeded to present in succession the following Gentlemen:—

Mr. Hewlett, Her Britannic Majesty's Consul.

Mr. Scherzer, Consul for France.

Mr. Toda, Consul for Spain.

Mr. Cunningham, Consul for Sweden and Norway.

Mr. Smith, Consul for Denmark.

Mr. Pustan, Consul for the Netherlands.

Mr. Jordan, Consul for (?)

Mr. Parker, Vice Consul for Great Britain.

Whereupon H. I. Highness expressed his thanks for the call, and the Gentlemen were invited to drink a glass of wine with him; upon which Mr. Lincoln proposed health and long-life to His Imperial Highness.

I hear that the visit of H. I. Highness will not extend much beyond Monday, if at all.

I have the honor to inform the Department that a package of papers on file in this office for over three years, and which was on file when I turn over charge in October last, to Mr. Chesire, is missing, and thus far can not be found.

This package contained all the papers relating to a case wherein Rev Dr A. P. Happer an American Missionary at this port, was before ^{me} in 1876, charged with having corresponded with the Chinese Authorities without first having submitted his correspondence to the Consul, as provided in Art. XXVIII of the Treaty of Tientsin, a full report of which case was made at the time, to the Legation.

On my return and resumption of duty (28th April last) I observed that correspondence had been had between Dr Happer and Mr. Chesire regarding this case, the former asking for a copy or copies of one or more of the papers. I at once looked for this package and found it was missing. I called Mr. Cheshire's attention to the fact and asked him of its whereabouts, he declaring he had never seen it:-

In my opinion there is but one inference to be drawn, and that is, the papers were removed either surreptitiously or otherwise, in the interest of the one in whom they were reflected.

In my opinion a Consular office has no right to go back of the shipping article to ascertain the nationality of a seaman on a question of payment ~~of~~ non-payment of extra wages. I therefore have signified my approval of the Consular Agents action, and trust the Department will concur.

No 124 Canton 15th June 1880

Hon. Chas Payson
3rd Asst. Secretary of State Washington
D.C.

Sir

I have the honor to report that a repetition of the destructive floods occurring here in 1877 ~ which was reported by me, has again taken place. The rains have been incessant for the past three weeks causing disastrous inundations and great loss of life and property in several of the districts within this Province.

In some localities growing crops

crops have been entirely swept away causing a rise in the price of the staple article of food - rice - of from 30 to 40 cents per picul. The prospect for the food supply for the poor is very slight indeed. Scarcity of this staple, results in high prices being demanded, and distress among the poorer classes is, in consequence, anticipated.

Several portions of the city are inundated to the depth of several feet causing the downfall of numerous buildings. Much discomfort and loss of property within these portions of the city is caused by the overflow. Should the weather remain cool and cloudy for some time, fevers and possible serious serious epidemic will probably be caused by so much dampness, the houses being usually of but one story and the occupants thus required to live on the ground floor. The Authorities are doing all possible to relieve the suffering of the people - not only furnishing supplies in many instances of extreme want, but being firm believers in the efficacy of prayer, have several times visited in state, ^{one} of the temples within the city, and therein offered up prayers for the cessation of rain. To day the sun is shining and they doubtless are persuaded that their appeals have been favorably considered.

These constant rains have interfered interfered very materially with trade, at least one third of the second ~ crop of silk is said to be destroyed and the balance much injured.

Tea crops are similarly affected ~ though low prices seem to be in order, on account of stagnation of trade ~~on~~ London Market.

Sir

I have the honor to hand you herewith copy of a letter from the Chief Manager of the Hong Kong & Shanghai Banking Corporation of Hong Kong from which you will observe he says that the Treasury Dept has refused payment of a draft drawn by Mr. Christie while in charge of the Consulate and paid by him to the above named Banking Institution.

This draft it seems from Mr. C's official correspondence was for residue of salary due him for 1st Quarter 1880. His drafts for 1st Quarter 1879 were duly honored and I was given to understand at the Treasury Dept when there in July last, that his drafts for 1st Quarter 1880 would also be honored.

You will please note that one of the reasons given for non-payment was that the Consul had already drawn for the amount.

There certainly is some mistake on this point as I have not drawn any drafts for either the 4th or 1st Quarter 1879 or 1880.

4th Quarter 1880 Mr Chestine then in Charge of the Consulate.

I regret that payment of the draft should have been refused as its through the kindness of this Govt that the draft's drawn at this Consulate since I assumed charge in 1879 have been paid at far better rates than at any time previous and any trouble in securing payment of them will only tend to render it more difficult for Consulate in future, to dispose of them advantageously for the Government.

I have advised Mr. Grant that I would communicate the facts to the Dept and express the belief that the draft would be paid on being again presented.

I therefore trust, if Mr Chestine's accounts for said quarter are in order, you will approve and request the Treasury Dept. to honor the draft as well as his drafts.

I have the honor to hand you herewith statement (Form D) showing the value of exports from this consular district to the United States during the year ending 30th September 1880.

The increase of $157,067⁴⁷, as shown, is accounted for by the fact of one or two firms having sent their invoices to this consulate for certification, instead of as formerly, to Hong Kong, and therefore is not an indication of an increase in trade.

I am informed by the Commissioner of Customs that ^{there} is a considerable falling off in value of exports and imports at this port during the year just closed.

By next mail I purpose forwarding to the Department a more complete report on the trade of this consular district in the more important articles of import and export.

I have the honor to report that in the American merchant ship "James Bailey" of Portland Maine was wrecked during a typhoon on the East Coast of the Island of Hoi-nam within this Consular district on the 17th ~~October~~ ultimo.

The vessel cleared from Hongkong in ballast, for San Francisco on the 13th October. Encountering the typhoon mentioned on the 16th, she was wrecked as above stated.

I inclose statement of her master Captain J. W. Mann, clipped from the Hongkong "China Mail".

Captain Mann and crew succeeded in reaching Hoi-tow after marching over sixty miles across the Island and there applied to H. B. Mc's Acting Consul (Mr. James Scott.) for assistance.

Consul Scott at once applied to the Local Authorities to send a force sufficient to protect the vessel and property from the ravages of the natives who were plundering and carrying away every thing available.

as rapidly as possible, when the Officers and Crew started ~~for~~ Ho. How - The Capt. and Officers and Crew ~~reached~~ Hongkong, steamer "Casandra" under British and "Ping On" under U. S. flag 31st October - when they reported to Consul Mosby ~~and~~ rendered them assistance as provided by ~~the~~ Consular Regulations.

Captain Mann then communicate with me presenting a list and value the property stolen and carried away by the Natives and requests that a claim be presented to the Chinese authorities recovery of the property or payment same.

Notwithstanding Art XIII of the Treaty of 1858 would seem to exempt the Chinese Authorities from making payment of such losses.

A statement of the facts to His Excellency the Viceroy with request that restitution of the property or its equivalent be returned is in process of preparation.

Payment was made not long since by the Chinese Government for similar losses in case of Spanish vessel "Toberan" wrecked several years ago on coast of Formosa and in view of that fact I see no valid reason why payment should not be made in this case.

The ship is only partially submerged in sand and water, so much so how

that it is claimed, only portions of her can be saved.

I have not taken possession of her as the Captain and Agents of the ship (Messrs. Russel & Co.) are in a position to do so.

Captain Mann is of the impression that the vessel may be sold for a small sum as it may be possible to recover some of the Copper and other portions of her.

He has advertised her for sale on 6th instant as per inclosed clipping.

LOSS OF THE AMERICAN SHIP
"JAMES BAILEY."

Captain J. W. Mann, of the American ship James Bailey, has kindly furnished us with the following report of the loss of that vessel during a severe gale on the N.E. coast of Hainan:—Left Hongkong, in ballast, for Vancouver's Island at 9 a.m. on the 14th October, the tug-boat taking the ship as far as the Nine Pins; wind then N.N.E. and blowing a fine, fresh breeze. At 4 p.m. the barometer read 29.84, wind from the N.E. and freshening; furled top-gallant sails. 6 p.m. the barometer showed 29.80, Leman Island W. by N. 20 miles, and blowing hard, ship under three lower topsails. At 8 p.m., barometer down to 29.70; furled lower fore and mizen-topsails. Midnight, wind E.N.E., furled main topsail. At 8 a.m. on 15th, barometer 29.50. Noon, barometer 29.10, wind blowing furiously from the East. Midnight, barometer 28.50, wind S.E., wore ship on the starboard tack. At 3 a.m. on 16th, sails blowing to pieces from the yards, wind increasing to hurricane force. At 4 a.m., fore top-gallant and main royal masts broke off, most of the braces carried away, and the yards swinging in all directions. At 11 a.m. three men were washed overboard, one of whom, Albert Olsen, a native of Sweden, was drowned, the other two being most miraculously enabled to regain the ship; from the state of the weather and the high sea raging no efforts could have been put forth to save the drowning man with any hope of success, and he disappeared almost instantaneously; at this time the main top-gallant mast broke away. Noon, weather cleared a little, and a vessel, apparently in ballast, was seen in the distance with nothing standing but her foremast. During the next 24 hours the wind traversed round the compass no less than four times. 3 p.m., 17th, main stays and starboard swifters carried away and yards all adrift. Cut away the main mast, while the mizen went by the board at the same time. 6 p.m. ship struck on what was supposed to be Hainan Sands; let go both anchors to keep ship from going over into deep water, the wind still blowing furiously. After striking forced 10 feet of water in the hold. 10 p.m. wind moderated, and was enabled to discern land about half a cable's length off. 2 a.m., 18th, landed crew. At daylight returned on board for provisions and clothing. At this time the natives began to assemble on the beach and commenced stealing whatever they could lay their hands upon. At 4 p.m. they had become so numerous that the crew were unable to offer any resistance, and they openly boarded the wreck plundering and destroying everything on board. On the 19th found from one of the natives that the ship was on Hainan Island nearly abreast of Taya Island, and tried to induce him to show the way overland to Hoihow, but without success. Next day succeeded in procuring a man from another district who agreed to act as guide, the other natives threatening him in the meanwhile, and some of them even following so far as five or six miles, and at one time it seemed as if they were about to proceed to active violence. No one was left in charge of the wreck, as it was totally unsafe to remain. Arrived at Hoihow at 10 p.m. on the 21st, and received every kindness and attention from H.B.M. Acting Consul there, Mr. J. Scott.

Captain Mann, with the second mate and nine of the crew, came on from that port by the steamer Cassandra, Captain Langer, and arrived in Hongkong yesterday; the remainder of the men, with the chief-officer, will take passage in the Ping-on, Captain McCaslin, which vessel may be expected to arrive at this port during the course of the day.

Chas Payson, Esquire,
3rd Asst. Secretary of State, Washington.

Sir,

I have the honor to report my arrival here, and my entrance upon the discharge of my official duties as Consul at this port.

It will be observed, from the enclosure, N^o 1 herewith, that the 4/3 services of my predecessor, Mr Lincoln, ceased on the 14th, and that mine commenced on the 15th inst.

The inventory of the property &c of the Consulate, herewith inclosed, 2/3 is rather meagre. I called my predecessor's attention to this fact, before verifying and signing it, and enquired for copies or Records

Records of former inventories. His reply was, that there were no such records in the office. Two glass panel book and stationery cases, a case of pigeon holes & drawers for filing papers, and all the chairs in the office except three, were labelled and claimed by Mr Lincoln as his private property.

I have caused the inventory verified and signed by me, (and inclosed herewith as above stated) to be made of permanent record in this office.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,
William L. Scruggs.

Thomas Payson, Esquire, 3rd Assistant Secretary of State,

Sir,

I consider that a Marshall or Constable, or some qualified person to act in that capacity & whenever his services may be needed, is quite as essential to the efficiency and dignity of the Consular Service here as at other important Chinese ports.

I believe some of my predecessors availed themselves of the courtesies of their colleagues of friendly powers, whenever emergencies arose requiring the presence or services of a Constable, or the use of temporary prison accommodations.

Similar

Similar courtesies have been proffered to me, both by my English and German colleagues, and for which suitable acknowledgments have been made. But, since no monetary remuneration would probably be accepted, all such obligations are liable to become embarrassing, and should, in my opinion, be avoided if possible. Moreover, such practices illly compare with that dignity and independence which other first class powers are careful to maintain in China.

I would therefore, suggest that an allowance of say not less than six hundred dollars per annum and fees, be made at this consulate for the services of a consulate, and that an additional allowance of say fifteen dollars per month be ac-thorised for prison rent.

[dollars

Sir,

It is within the bounds of reason to assume (what indeed is supported by statistics) that fully ninety per cent of the so-called "Chinese Emigrants" to the United States, is from the Cantonese provinces of San-wei, San-ning, Yau-ping and Hoi-ping.

And yet, not one of these emigrants ship from the coast ports of China to the United States. They all go to the British colony of Hongkong, and thence embark for San Francisco. No inconsiderable number are natives of Hongkong, and therefore British subjects. In either case, the Chinese authorities seem powerless to prevent such emigration, even were they so disposed.

In view of these facts, it seems to me that, in the absence of some treaty with Great Britain, prohibiting or limiting emigration from her Asiatic colonies, the object sought by our Government, in a modification of the Burlingame treaty, would be defeated.

Chas Payson, Esquire,

3rd Assistant Secretary of State,

Washington:

Sir,

The extracts herewith enclosed, made from the Customs 1/8 Returns of Trade at the Treaty ports in China for the year 1879, show that the cultivation of the poppy is still carried on in many parts of the Empire; and, therefore, that the Imperial Edict prohibiting the production of Opium, has been but feebly and partially enforced.

The difficulty in its enforcement is generally attributed to the apathy of high Provincial officials, or to the corruption of their subordinates. The cultivation of opium pays so much better than rice or millet, that any one acquainted with Chinese methods, need ^{not} marvel that the law prohibiting it should be successfully evaded. A commission to the district Magistrate, in the form of presents, or (what is more common,) bribes to one or more attachés of the Yamen, usually secures immunity from molestation.

Still, it will be observed that, in certain Provinces, the prohibition has been enforced — notably in Shensi, Honan and Kweichow, — the result being an increased demand for the imported drug at the Yangtze ports. But, in Shan-tung and Szechuen, and in parts of other Provinces, there appears to have been no decline in the area under poppy cultivation; while, in Formosa, its cultivation seems to have been re-commenced on a somewhat extensive scale, notwithstanding well directed efforts to prevent it.

The Opium habit is hopelessly fastened upon the masses; and whilst it is manifest that it is steadily undermining the public health and morals of the country, there seems no practical remedy for this terrible evil. The impated drug yields an enormous revenue to the Imperial Government, and it is well known that this traffic alone still constitutes the bulk of British trade in China.

Enclosure. 1. Notes on the poppy culture in China.

[Inclosure n^o 1/8]

Opium Culture in China.

The following notes, relative to the poppy cultivation in China, are made up from the Customs Returns of Trade of the Treaty ports, for the year 1879, just published:

In some parts of the provinces of Chihli, Shansi, Shensi, Honan, and Kweichow, the cultivation of the plant has to a great extent been abandoned, owing to the enforcement of the Imperial decree prohibiting it. In many parts, ^{of} Chaugtung and in Szechuen, however, it has flourished as of old.

The assistant in charge of Customs at Newchwang, makes the following observations on the native drug:—"The unsatisfactory"

state of the soil for the culture of the poppy - caused by unusually heavy rains at first, and followed afterwards by too great dryness, at the time the flowers had formed - resulted in an utter failure of the crop. Hence may be mainly attributed the great increase in the import of ^{the} Foreign drug. Another reason that may be given for this increase is, that the profitable rates - ruling for opium in this market caused native merchants to have the payments for Exports made in opium in preference to Rice Goods."

The Commissioner of Customs at Chefoo, has the subjoined remarks on the subject: - "Chinese Opium is produced at the Yens Chou, Chao Chou, Tungchang, and Echon, prefectures in this province; and, in addition, Chantung is a consumer of the drug brought from Honan, Shansi, and Kirin provinces. So far as I can ascertain, the prohibition against the cultivation of the poppy has not been without its effect, and that it is chiefly persisted in places where the Yamen runners are lax in their duty. The crop in Honan last year is reported to have been a good one, but I have not found it practicable to obtain reliable information as to the quantities produced or consumed in this and the adjacent provinces."

The Commissioner at Hankow in his report thus refers to the native opium trade:—"The Export trade has been steadily declining during the last four years, shipments—

having fallen from 1,296.56 piculs in 1876 to 120.08 in 1879. The difference between 1879 and 1878 amounts to 460.78 piculs. The prohibition against the cultivation of the poppy which has so long lain dormant, has recently been revived and strictly enforced in Honan, Kweichow, and Shensi, and the result is plainly shown by the figures given above. The cost of native ^{Opium} is now nearly on a par with that of foreign drug, and it consequently no longer pays to export it. The province of Szechuen is still untouched by any prohibitive measures, and continues to supply ^{The} drug to the Hankow market, but, necessarily, principally for local consumption. The Shansi and Honan dealers have already deserted the port, and now go direct to Szechuen for their purchases, a significant proof of the changed condition of the trade.

The Commissioner at Wuhu, says: - "As regards native Opium, I can gather little information, for the very simple and so far satisfactory reason that the article itself appears to be at this present time all but unknown to the dealers in the districts independent ~~on~~ Wuhu. To a limited extent the poppy is here and there grown, in private gardens and for private consumption, all over the province. It is also certain that amongst the numerous passengers almost daily arriving by steamboat from Hankow, there are many who successfully smuggle Smuggle past the Customs small quantities of Szechuen drug concealed in their luggage. But neither the local production nor the illegal importation amount to anything worthy of record; and there can be no doubt whatever that they do not in the least affect the demand for the Indian commodity.

Nor do I see any reason to fear that a change is likely to be wrought in this respect. Having had some experience of an Opium-producing country, and having for long watched the course of events at a port where the native article has under vastly different conditions to those existing in this part of the Empire established a firm foothold, I can imagine nothing more improbable than that the production of the drug in a province situated as is Anhwei can ever give rise to serious disquietude either on the part of the native Government or of the foreign purveyor".

The Customs Commissioner at Shanghai, states that the import of native opium has annually fallen off during the last four years, from which fact he infers that cultivation of the poppy in Szechuen and north-western provinces is on a much small scale than formerly or else that there is little or no demand for it in the Shanghai market.

The Commissioner at Wess Chou, says that a certain quantity of native is brought to that port in Taichow junks and retailed out to be mixed with the foreign drug.

but he gives no particulars of the trade.

The Commissioner of Customs at Amoy, remarks that the Chinese in that region are attempting to grow the poppy. In the neighbourhood of Onlan it has been discovered, and there are patches of it to be seen on the South Hill, which is immediately opposite the Customs House.

In his report on the trade of Amoy, the Commissioner makes the following interesting remarks with reference to native opium:

"Information as to the actual yield of the poppy fields in what may be styled the Amoy district, i.e. in regions adjacent to the port, and which draw the bulk of their other supplies hence — is difficult to arrive at, but investigations recently instituted in the interior go to prove that poppy culture has received attention for over 30 years, seed in the first instance having been procured from Singapore. The culture has been largely extended during the last few seasons, untill — $300,000 is now spoken of as about the value of the annual supply of native drug. The mode of cultivating the poppy plant and collecting and manipulating the juice is similar to that obtaining in the other producing districts in China, particulars as to which have on more occasions than one been furnished in previous Trade Reports. The smoky drug when ready for use is of a decidedly inferior quality, and is distributed through interior markets and the railroad town lying immediately north of the port, but little, if any, finding its way here. The principle producing places are situated within an area of some 35 li round Hanlanling, in Tunggan-hsion, no less than 302 villages being enumerated, the arable land in the vicinity of which, to the extent of from one half to one-tenths, is, it is asserted, annually under poppy culture. The inhabitants of these villages are members of powerful clans, and are spoken of as turbulent in disposition, and apt to resent interference with their proceedings. Hence it is argued that prohibitions against poppy culture have proved futile, but it is greatly to be feared that, in reality, here, as elsewhere, proceedings are simply winked at by petty officials and their underlings, in consideration of their bribes they receive, and that no real repressive measures have ever been attempted. As to the profit accruing from poppy cultivation, it may be observed that the yield of a poppy patch measuring 70 feet square is estimated to realize from $8. to $12, according to the nature of the soil and the care taken in tending the plants and manipulating the juice collected; whereas the same area of land cropped with rice, ground-nuts, or sweet potatoes would only yield $5 worth of the first named products, and but $3 worth of the latter.

To Charles Payson, Esquire,

3rd Asst. Secretary of State,

Sir,

Recurring to the subject my predecessor's despatch N^o 137, of the 3rd ultimo, relative to the wreck of the James Bailey, I beg to submit herewith, for the information of the Department, a copy of the Report by Commander Huntington, of the U.S. Corvette Alert, to Admiral Blith.

From this Report, it appears that, at the instance of Consul Mosby of Hongkong, Commander Huntington was despatched by the Admiral to the scene of the wreck; that he was accompanied thither by Capt. Mann of the [wrecked

needed repel; and that the investigation made by him corroborates, in the main, Capt. Mauns' representations to this office, upon which my predecessor's despatch, above referred to, was predicated.

It is, perhaps, unfortunate that Commander Huntington was not accompanied by the consular representative within whose jurisdiction the case arose; or, in default of such attendance, that he had no authority to negotiate a final settlement, so promptly proposed by the Tao-tai of Hainan.

In the course of a personal interview on the subject, H. E. the Viceroy, informed me that he had issued instructions to the local authorities at Hainan to apprehend and punish the guilty parties without delay; and to be equally prompt in discovering and causing to be returned, either to the owner directly or through his agent to this consulate, all property and fixtures stolen from the wrecked vessel. This assurance is substantially repeated in his official note, received by me just as the mail is closing.

I shall therefore, await the Viceroy's further report, in the hope that his action may meet the requirements of the case, as provided for in Article VIII, of the Treaty of 1858.

The wrecked vessel was sold at public auction, in Hong Kong, on the 6th November last. Messrs Blackhead & Co, a German [House

House there, becoming the purchasers at the nominal price of Two Hundred Dollars, as will be seen by the inclosed copy of the Bill of Sale.

A member of this House, who claims to be an American citizen, has already filed a claim in this office, against the Chinese Government, for $8,850⁷⁰; damages alleged by him to have been done the vessel by the natives after the purchase.

I have declined to entertain this claim further than to lay all the facts, as represented by the claimant, before the viceroys, and await the result of his action. I shall then submit the case, with all the accused facts and circumstances, to the Department, and ask for for instructions.

I am, Sir,

Tastai, Liu, Intendant of Lien-King Circuit, &c &c, addresses the following reply to Captain Huntington, Comdr. ~~The~~ U.S.S. "Albat", &c &c &c.

The Tastai has the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Captain Huntington's Communication of the 17th inst. on the subject of the wreck of the American ship "James Bailey" (Despatch here quoted in full) and in reply to state that having some time ago received a communication from from H. M. Acting Consul at Kuning Chow, on the same question, the Taotai at once sent orders by express to the Wenchang Magistrate, directing him to detach an additional body of police, and having immediately placed himself at their head, proceed fast haste to the locality, maintain order among the inhabitants there, protect the property, immediately recover from the various parties the different articles which they had stolen, secure compensation, and inflict punishment on the culprits—there must be no evasion or delay. Subsequently to the issue of these orders, the magistrate came personally to Kuning Chow, accompanied by Fu Shun, a witness to the occurrences at the wreck and the following is the report he submitted to the Taotai:—

a place known among the natives as the Tien Ho Tou village, distant from the Central Police Patrol of the District two hundred and ten li and where there was no coast guard station on any of the surrounding heights; that the vessel had gone ashore during a gale and broken her hull; that copper sheeting had been stripped off; that sails and masts had ^{been} destroyed by the wind; that the vessel was in ballast; and that there ^{were} ~~being~~ no foreigners on board the ship; he had delivered her over to the local Headman and Village Superiors for careful custody.

The magistrate thereupon summoned the Village Superior Lin Shu Hsiang, the cripple — spoken of in the communication of Consul Scott, as also the Witness Fu Shun, to appear before his Court.

Lin Shu Hsiang deposed: —

On the day the vessel was shipwrecked the foreigners all landed with ~~an~~ their their luggage, and Fu Shun, a native of the place who could speak English, at once engaged for them carts and buffaloes to take the Compasses, sextants, clock, and other articles, which he intended to deposit for the time being in the Village of Tien Ho Tou, but the people of this place, fearing getting into trouble, would not allow them to come into their village; on this the foreigners got excited, and told Fu Shun to engage for them Chair Coolies to take their baggage to Hoihow en route for Hongkong, and they at once left behind the compasses, sextants, &c, & all the articles in total had not been taken away with them, the deponent had a list made out, and was stowing them away; some of them however were removed by his family and relatives and distributed about — they were not stolen, and he is ready to recover and return them to to the master. The deponent ~~u~~ begs humbly to submit to the Magistrate that if the natives of the place had purpose stealing the property; and had intended injuring any person, how comes it that he (master of ships) could take away so much luggage?"

Lin Shu Hesiang have been ~~u~~ confronted with Fu Shun, the latter deposed that at the time of the wreck, the villagers were afraid; and that they did not in any right manner invite them into their ~~u~~ village is fully true and correct, as also that they did not kill or hurt any one; had they intended doing so how could the deponent, one single individual, have been able to protect them and take them to Hoi-how?

The deponent recollects the amount of property, that was missing; last day when he went to the village he found out where

the articles were, and is willing to go at once and recover every one and return them himself to the foreigners.

In regard hereto the magistrate would humbly submit that the conduct of Lin Shu Kiang being Village Superior, in not immediately taking care of the ship and Crew in disaster, and reporting to the officials to protect them, shows gross neglect of duty; and from his deposition stating that the property left by the foreigners was removed by his family and relatives, it is clear that they robbed and stole them. His evidence is cunningly framed to evade punishment. At the time, the magistrate had Lin Shu Kiang, as a preliminary measure flogged with a hundred blows of the heavy bamboo, imprisoned him, and compelled him to send a letter to his family insisting on the return of the missing articles one by one; pending the recovery of of the whole of the goods, the Magistrate was at the same time making search for and arresting the other offenders who had been engaged in plundering and stealing, which having been done they would be carefully examined and severely punished as the laws provides according to their guilt, thereby establishing a warning for the future.

The Magistrate brings Fu Shun up to Kiating Chow, and humbly awaits the pleasure of the Taotai in examining him, &c &c. Such was the Magistrate's report.

With reference thereto the Taotai would observe that in the event of the wreck and stranding of any Chinese vessel, no matter of what description, and the natives in the locality presume to avail themselves of this disaster to pillage and plunder, there are special regulations for the severe punishment of

of the offenders according as the facts are ascertained against them on their arrest. How much more than in the case of a friendly and allied Power should shipwrecked crew and vessels be taken care of with the utmost energy possible. No carelessness or neglect must be permitted, nor the slightest difference made in their treatment.

The conduct of this Fu Shun in understanding how to protect and convey these shipwrecked people, commands the Taitai's highest respect and appreciation, and the Taitai having him brought before him and carefully questioned, had him liberally rewarded for his services. He also directed him to return at once to the village with the magistrate and assist the family of Lin. Shu. Hsiang in recovering all and everyone of the articles missing from the ship "James Baily" handing the whole whole over to the Magistrate, who having duly examined them, will instruct Fu Shun to take them under his care, and deliver them over to the owners direct.

In regard to the lost property of the "James Baily" although the Magistrate reports that Lin Shü Hsiang deposed that the articles were actually taken away and distributed by his family relations and not stolen, it is clear herefrom that he is framing a cunning story to escape punishment; and although the Magistrate has as a preliminary measure severely flogged him, it is still his duty to imprison him until all the articles are fully recovered and returned; while as concerns the other plunderers, &c. they must be diligently apprehended and likewise brought into Court, submitted to examination and severely punished as the law provides — no leniency or

or partiality whatever to be shown, thereby establishing a warning for the future.

Today the Taotai makes a special point of awaiting Captain Huntington in his garden where he will have the pleasure of a personal interview with him on the whole matter.

Having now received Captain Huntington's communication as above quoted, it becomes the Taotai's duty to forward this reply as a first measure, and he accordingly has the honor to address to him this communication for his information.

By a separate communication the Taotai requested Her Britannic Majesty's Acting Consul at Kumpchow, Mr. Scott, to translate and forward this reply to Captain Huntington, and the Taotai has now the honor to inform him thereof.

A communication addressed to Captain Huntington, &c, &c &c.

Interview between Commander Huntington and the Taotai, at Kiang Chow, on the 18th November 1880.

The usual complimentary expressions being exchanged, the Taotai said that he had received Comdr. Huntington's communication, and given it his prompt attention, having forwarded it at once to the District Magistrate nearest to the scene of the wreck, and that everything

everything in his power would be done to recover stolen property and punish the offenders.

The ringleader was the headman of the village, and had been already arrested, and was then in the Magistrate's hands; and this would assist them in finding the other guilty parties. Fu Shun, the guide, had given important testimony, and was assisting the authorities.

Comdr. Huntington said he hoped that the guide, who had been so kind to the shipwrecked people, would not be used in such a manner as to bring injury upon him from his neighbors.

The Taitai assured Comdr. Huntington that this would not be the case. He had already commended Fu Shun for his humanity, and would himself reward him, and in addition had brought him to the Governor General in Canton, and requested that that some grade and rank should be given him. That to the action of Fu Shun was due in a great degree the safety of the shipwrecked people, who otherwise would have doubtless been massacred.

The Taotai further stated that some of the stolen property had been recovered, and that a list of the articles was being furnished by one of the men concerned in the plundering.

Commander Huntington remarked that perhaps this could not be entirely depended upon; that the master of the "James Bailey" was on board the "Alert" and could be questioned regarding the matter.

The Taotai asked if Comdr. Huntington ^{would furnish a list of the articles} ~~planned to stop and~~ ^{this Com. H. promised to try and do.} The Taotai asked if Commander Huntington would consider any offer that might be made in the way of compensation for the plundered articles which could not be recovered.

Comdr:

Commander Huntington replied that he had no authority to settle the case, his instructions only contemplated an enquiry into what had been done, and was being done in the matter.

The Taotai asked Comdr. Huntington if he would forward with his report any proposition that might be made in regard to replacing missing ^{proper}.

Commander Huntington replied that he would do so.

The Taotai then remarked that the relations between the two countries had always been very friendly, &c. &c. &c, and that he would do all he could to have this matter righted.

Comdr. Huntington replied that there had been no doubt in his mind in regard to the prompt and proper action of the Taotai, and would take pleasure in so informing his Superior.

The Taotai replied that he was only performing his plain duty,

&c

He, he, and after informing Comdr. Huntington of his intention of his returning the visit the next day, the interview was concluded.

The above is a correct account of the conversation between the Taotai and myself.

Second Interview between Commander Huntington and the Taotai.
On board U. S. S. "Alert," on the 19th of Nov. 1880.

After

After preliminaries, Commander Huntington said that he was acquainted with the purport of the Taotai's reply and would acknowledge it officially as soon as the translation was received, then referring to the list of property plundered from the wreck of the "James Bailey" said that finding that the master of the ship had already furnished the U. S. Consul at Canton, a list which the Consul promised to translate and forward to the Viceroy, would it not be better for the Taotai to receive that through the regular channel? He said he) ~~The~~ different translators might use different characters in expressing the same sound, and besides, there might be some slight disagreement in the lists themselves, all of which would cause confusion.

The Taotai coincided in this opinion. Commander Huntington further stated that the value of the articles amounted to several thousand dollars, and this would give the Taotai an idea of the extent of plundering, but that he (Comdr. Huntington.) had no authority in the matter beyond obtaining as thorough a history of the case as possible.

Commander Huntington then said that the wreck was sold at Public Auction on the 6th November at Hongkong, and that the list furnished by the master to the Consul at Canton, contained only articles that were of his own knowledge, stolen before he left the vicinity of the wreck, and that anything happening to the ship subsequent to her sale would be an affair of the purchasers.

The Taotai expressed his thanks for the information and asked if Commander Huntington could suggest anything to him.

Commander Huntington replied that future complications might be avoided if responsible persons were placed to guard the wreck, and prevent depredations.

The Taitai stated that two of the leading gentry, or literati, two village headmen, and four other responsible persons were under bonds that no further harm should be done, but that he would also have a proper guard. Referring to the guide, Fu Shun, the Taitai said that so far from his being ill used by his neighbors, they were soliciting his good offices, and that he had gone bail for eight of them.

The interview closed in the usual manner.

The above is a correct account of the conversation between the Taitai and myself:

Statement of Theodor Bunje

Herewith I beg to state that I found the wreck of the American ship "James Bailey" on the north coast of Hainan, between Mount Mafoo and Mount Toncon, with her broadside on the beach. At low water it is possible to walk dry on board the port side.

On the seaside (starboard) I found that there was 14 a 16 feet of water. — The following is the inventory which I have taken up on board the wreck on the 15th inst., viz:

Ship with foremast, foretopmast, foreyard foreyard, two topsail yards, bowsprit, and jibboom with all standing gear except the forestay.

Boats. one large boat ----- } laying one small boat, a little damaged } the best one middle sized boat laying on deck Spars on deck: one 80 feet long. one 60 " "

Anchors + Chains: two bowers with chains complete one stream anchor.

Windlass. one patent with capstan (cover of capstan and small parts from windlass missing.)

Capstan: one on the forecabin, patent } both one on the main deck, patent } mini patent chain stoppers

Rudder: without wheel and steering gear, upper and lower gudgeons broken.

Pumps: both wheels broken, all the pumps gear missing.

Tanks: one iron water tank for 3000 gallons one wooden tank for 500 gallons a hole cut in the bottom

Chain plates: partly torn out and hanging down on the ship's side.

Coal

Coal: about 5 tons.

Metal on the ship's bottom above the water:

on the starboard side, the three upper rows of sheets, from fore part of fore Chains to right after mizzen.

All Sails, Ropes Provisions, and other moveable Inventory of any description missing.

Bulkheads, Windows, Doors, Sky-lights from Cabin and forehold missing. nothing left but the frames.

In the village of Chum-tan about a mile from the wreck, I found a pile of wood, formerly belonging to the ship at bulkheads, doors and Companion ladder.

My firm opinion is, that if the wreck is not plundered by the natives, all the missing property would still be there, and that it could have been saved without any trouble.

I beg to submit to you the particulars connected with the loss of the ship "James Bailey" under my Command on the Hainan coast.

In conjunction with my crew — consisting of 21 men I undertook to save property, but the natives plundered us in every direction stealing clothing, provisions, &c.

With hatchets they broke into the cabins plundering and — destroying everything, leaving nothing but the bare walls. Being in so large numbers, we could do nothing against them.

Every available thing was taken from the ship by them, and so threatening their appearance we expected a hostile attack and had it not been for one Fu Shun, a native of another district who guided us to Hoi. how there is no telling what might have happened.

They were so threatening, I did not deem it safe for any one to stay by the wreck. We — neither received assistance or protection from any of the authorities.

U. S. S. "Alert," under my command, to the Islands of Hainan, and enquire into the circumstances attending the wreck of the American ship "James Bailey" on the coast opposite the Saya (Taya) Islands; and respectfully submit the following report, with accompanying documents, as a full history of the case.

On the 15th November the "Alert," sailed for the Hainan coast, opposite the Taya Islands, arriving the next day at P. 30, A.M. A heavy N. E. monsoon rendered it unsafe to attempt any landing on the beach, but the ship passed within a mile of the wreck.

The wreck of the "James Bailey" lies about 5 miles South of Mount Inafau, quite near enough to the beach to render the salvaging of property an easy matter.

The water was breaking violently outside of her, but was comparatively smooth smooth inside. The coast appeared barren, with no signs of habitation, beyond a few fishermen's huts. From the wreck we steamed along close to the shore, displaying the flag, and arrived at Hoi-how, the port of the capital city, Kiating Chow, at 1.47 P.M.

It was here that the shipwrecked crew were guided by a native, and as the master of the "James Saily" informed me that H.B.M. Acting Consul at that port, Mr. James Scott, had already had some correspondence with the Taitai at Kiating Chow, in reference to the maltreatment of the crew, I deemed it necessary to inform myself thoroughly as to what had already been done in the matter.

On arriving at Hoihow, I called on Mr. Scott, who kindly furnished me with copies of all correspondence and papers in his possession relating to the subject. As I could not obtain a proper person person to act as Interpreter, Mr. Scott, at my request, (also) translated my communication to the Taotai, and consented to be present at the interview held between the Taotai and myself at Kiangchow, and on board the "Alert."

And here it seems proper that I should acknowledge my sense of the courtesy of H. B. M. Consul, for without a trustworthy translator the Taotai and myself could not have conversed as frankly as we did.

The copies of papers received from Mr. Scott, accompany this report.

On the 14th I addressed a communication to the Taotai, informing him of the object of my visit, and also expressing a desire for a personal interview. I received word, that he would be glad to receive me on the following day.

On the 18th accompanied by

by Lieut. H. C. Hunter, P. A. Paymaster O. C. Tiffany, and Mr. Consul Scott, I made an official visit to the Taotai, at Kiatingchow, about four miles from Hoihow.

The interview, an account of which accompanies this report, was very satisfactory. The Taotai seemed very direct, and there was no appearance of evasion, nor delay, nor any attempt to make light of the matter. He expressed his intention of returning my visit the next day.

On the evening of the 18th, Mr. Consul Scott, received a reply from the Taotai to my communication, requesting him also to furnish me with a translation.

Mr. Scott informed me of the purport of the Taotai's despatch at once and subsequently sent a full translation.

On the 19th the Taotai returned my visit, he was received with a salute

salute of three guns, and the Officers and men at quarters; was shown round the ship, and, at his request, the 21-in. gun was cast loose, and the gun's crew exercised. This interview was also very satisfactory, and I have since learned that the Taotao was much gratified by the manner of his reception. On his departure a salute of three guns was fired.

Knowing the wreck of the "James Bailey" had been sold to a German House, I thought it well to ask their agent to give me an account of the state in which he found her.

Duplicates or copies of all the correspondence will accompany this report, and will furnish a full history of the case.

The plundering of the "James Bailey" and her shipwrecked crew, and the hostile conduct of the natives of Hainan, are placed beyond question, but there is also no doubt of the fact that the Taotai at Kiumg Chow, the principal authority of the Island, acted promptly and properly in the matter, and in accordance with the XIII article of the Treaty of 1858.

It will be impossible for the Authorities to replace many of the plundered articles, and if a money compensation is exacted from the guilty parties, Equity, it seems to me, would require all the circumstances to be taken into consideration, such as the difficulty and expense of transporting the ships store to a market where they could be sold, even if they had all been saved. The first cost of clothing claimed by the Officers and crew, could hardly express its value at the time of the wreck; but as they were placed in a dangerous predicament by the hostility of the natives, perhaps this should be ~~con-~~ considered

Indeed, but for the resolute bearing of the master of the vessel, and the kindness of one native, named Fu Shun, the crew would have been very badly handled. I respectfully call your attention to the conduct of Fu Shun.

Among the papers received from Mr. Consul Scott, is one letter referring to the wreck of a French ship in the same typhoon. This has only a relative bearing to the case of the "James Bailey" - as showing the general nature of the coast population of Hainan, and I have no doubt that the visit of a vessel of war to the principal port will have an excellent moral effect.

Sir,

The leading Editorial article herewith inclosed, from the Hongkong Daily Press of the 8th inst., derives its only importance from the fact that the journal in which it appears, is the recognised organ of the Colonial Government. Its illy concealed animus, accords well with that feeling of jealousy so stupidly manifested by British interests in the East; and particularly in China and Japan, where the future possibilities of American trade and influence are just beginning to be realised.

From the Hongkong Daily Press of the 8th Decr, 1880.

HONGKONG, DECEMBER 8TH, 1880.

THE American High Commissioners to Peking have brought their labours to a very early if not a perfectly satisfactory conclusion. It is, however, stated by our Shanghai morning contemporary that the three gentlemen composing the Commission are themselves well satisfied with the result of the negotiations. Whether their countrymen will be equally pleased has yet to be demonstrated. The Tsung-li Yamen is reported to have conceded the right to the United States Government of legislating on the subject of immigration in any way in which they see fit. We hear that another and the only other important clause of the new convention is one prohibiting the import of opium into the United States, and forbidding American citizens in China from taking any part in the trade. Of course this is intended as a slap at England, which it must be admitted is a cheap one, since the High Commissioners probably believed they were making a concession that could not materially affect American interests. We doubt, however, whether American firms in China will regard the stipulation with favour, for though none of them are very largely interested in the opium trade, yet it cannot be pleasant to have a legitimate source of profit barred to them, more especially when they have little interest in the Chinese question. Few British or American residents in China believe in the outcry that has been raised against the Chinese in the Pacific States as a bonâ fide expression of opinion of the majority of the American people. An outcry was raised through the medium of some clamorous agitators, the elections were imminent, and something had to be done. The convention just negotiated is the result, and it remains to be seen whether it will prove more than a mere instrument obtained to pacify the Anti-Chinese party in the Golden State. If the new convention really signified the possible exclusion of the Chinese from the States it is doubtful whether the Chinese Government would have proved so pliable, though they were, while conducting the negotiations with Messrs. ANGELL, TRESCOTT, and SWIFT, embarrassed by their quarrel with Russia. As a matter of fact, it is very probable the Authorities at Peking care little either one way or the other about the emigration to the United States. Most of the emigrants are of the coolie class, and until very recently the paternal Government of China have shown scant care for the interests of those of their subjects who chose to go abroad. If, however, the reverse is the case, and the Chinese Government do feel a keen interest in the emigration to the United States, they will not be long in finding some means to secure an equivalent for the concession reputed to have been made to the American Commissioners. Moreover, the Peking Authorities have lately given sufficient proof to the world that no treaty negotiated with them can be regarded as of the slightest value until it has been formally ratified. They have a rather awkward habit of changing their mind, and clearly cannot be depended upon. They also rely upon their ability to delay agreements, and by constant procrastination to weary out their opponents. This shuffling policy did not avail with Germany, when the little difficulty with that Power arose out of the piracy of the Anna some three or four years ago, and it does not seem likely to answer with Russia; but evasion and artifice are dear to the Chinese official, and he will always employ them if possible. But mere sly cunning cannot be expected to match the astuteness of the Muscovite, who can safely be trusted to speedily fathom the shallow designs of the mandarins. The new American Treaty, as described, has been yielded for some occult reason, which may perhaps be more apparent later on.

To Chas. Payson, Esquire

Report
 No 12. Consulate of the United States
 Canton, December 27th 1880.
 Mr. Scruggs, Consul,
 To the State Department.

 The hire of a Constable

Abstract of Contents.

See No 78 p 268.

An instruction from the Department, on file in this consulate, dated June 5th 1875, authorising the hire of a Constable — As no evidence exists here of the modification of this instruction, it is presumed to be of force — Reasons why some provision for the services of a Constable are deemed by the Consul to be important — A case given in illustration of this etc etc.

N^o 12. United States Consulate.
Canton, December 27th 1880.

To Chas. Layson, Esquire.

3rd Asst. Secretary of State, Washington.

Sir,

Recurring to the subject of my N^o 6, of the 30th ult. relative to the hire of a constable, I observe, from an instruction on file in this office, that the actual expenses of the hire of such an officer at this Consulate, not to exceed the rate of six hundred dollars per annum, has been authorised by the Department already.

The instruction referred to, is numbered 6, and is dated June 5th 1875; but, ^{as} there is no evidence of its ever having been been modified or revoked, # the inference is that it is # still of force, and therefore # applicable to the case under consideration.

It is true, I can find # no record in the office # showing that the allowance has been availed of, or that any sums have been paid for such service, by my imme-diate predecessor. The same is, however, true of other # accounts, concerning the # existence of which there can be no reasonable doubt.

I consider it essential to the efficiency of the service at this port, that some provision be made for the services of # a competent and qualified person to act in the capacity

of Constable, in anticipation of emergencies constantly liable to occur in a place like Canton.

In illustration of this, I may refer to a case in point. It has become necessary to issue subpoenas to secure the attendance of certain U. S. Citizens, (resident within this Consular District.) as material witnesses in a case of homicide, before an English tribunal. As I can hardly be expected to serve my own writs, I am under the necessity, either of qualifying some one to do so, (with a possibility of having to pay his compensation out of my own salary,) or of soliciting favors from one of my colleagues which I shall be wholly unprepared to reciprocate.

I shall choose the alternative first named, and hope for the approval of the Department.
